KSE decides to enter poll fray as an Independent

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

On the eve of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's first visit to Karnataka ahead of the Lok Sabha elections, BJP's senior leader K.S. Eshwarappa, upset with his son K.E. Kanthesh being denied the party ticket, announced that he would fight party veteran B.S. Yediyurappa's son B.Y. Raghavendra as an Independent candidate from Shivamogga Lok Sabha seat "to free the party from the clutches of the one leader's family".

Hailing Mr. Modi, Mr. Eshwarappa, said he was entering the poll battle as an Independent "to ensure that the party goes on the right path in tune with Mr. Modi's vision".

He alleged that while Mr. Modi has been criticising the Congress for its dynastic politics, the BJP in Karnataka had been "going the Congress way" with Mr. Yediyurappa's family being at the helm of affairs.

SC asks why SBI didn't give all the details of poll bonds

Top court asks the bank why it didn't reveal the unique alphanumeric numbers to the EC, sends it a notice and lists the case on March 19; it agrees to return original documents to the Commission

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Friday asked the State Bank of India (SBI) why it had not disclosed the unique alphanumeric numbers of individual electoral bonds to the Election Commission (EC) for publication on its official website.

"In our judgment of February 15, we had directed disclosure specifically of all the details of the electoral bonds, including date of their purchase, the amount, names of purchasers, the political parties which redeemed the bonds, etc. But the bank has not disclosed the numbers of the bonds purchased and encashed. Why?" Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud, heading a five-judge Bench, asked.

The court issued a notice to the bank and listed the case for March 19.

The Bench further agreed to return to the EC the documents regarding electoral bonds which the poll body had given the court, in compliance with judicial orders passed on April 12, 2019 and November 2, 2023.

In its judgment on February 15, the five-judge Bench had directed the EC to publish the confidential information submitted in the court, along with details of electoral bonds. However, the EC filed an application on March 14, saying that it had given the court the originals of the documents and not retained any copies.

Rahul accuses PM of running 'extortion racket'

THANE
In a blistering attack on Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the electoral bonds, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday accused Mr. Modi of "running the world's largest extortion racket". He alleged that the funds amassed through the now scrapped electoral bonds scheme were used to split political parties like the Shiv Sena and the Nationalist Congress Party in Maharashtra, and topple the Opposition government.

New ECs take charge; SC refuses to stay their appointments

Task at hand: Gyanesh Kumar and Sukhbir Singh Sandhu assume charge as Election Commissioners on Friday. PTI

Krishnadas Rajagopal

NEW DELHI

Former bureaucrats Gyanesh Kumar and Sukhbir Singh Sandhu assumed charge as Election Commissioners on Friday, a day after their selection by a high-powered panel chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The Supreme Court refused to intervene immediately on a petition urging a stay on their appointments, on the grounds that the hurry and lack of transparency shown by the government has sent a wrong message that the two retired IAS officers are "favourable" to the regime in power.

This is the first time that Election Commissioners have been appointed in accordance with the new Chief Election Commissioner and Other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Act, 2023, which was brought in by the government last December, and which replaces the Chief Justice of India with a Cabinet Minister in the selection panel chaired by the Prime Minister.

Appearing before a three-judge Bench headed by Justice Sanjiv Khanna, the petitioners – including Association for Democratic Reforms and Congress leader Jaya Thakur and others, represented by senior advocates Kapil Sibal, Vikas Singh, and advocate Prashant Bhushan – said the enactment of the new law, which gives the Union government a dominant role in the selection and appointment of Election Commissioners, had worked to its advantage.

However, the Bench relied on a technical point that legislative enactments are not "normally" stayed. The court adjourned the case to March 22.

Listing out the series of circumstances which raised suspicions about the process, advocate Prashant Bhushan said that the government had deliberately advanced the meeting of the high-profile selection committee by a day to time the appointments ahead of the court hearing on March 15.

CID to probe POCSO case against BSY

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The State government has handed over the case against former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa, registered under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (POCSO) on Thursday, to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID).

The order was issued by Director-General & Inspector-General of Police Alok Mohan on Friday afternoon, but the case is yet to be handed over to the CID.

This decision came hours after Home Minister G. Parameshwara confirmed that the city police had registered a case against the former Chief Minister. When quizzed further, he said: "It is a very sensitive case, connected to a former Chief Minister and a minor girl. We will not be able to reveal any more details at this stage."

However, Dr. Parameshwara said that some people were saying that the woman was "mentally unstable". Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar, who rushed to Dr. Parameshwara's house on Friday morning to discuss the case, refused to comment.

The city police got the victim in the case to undergo the procedural medical examination at a private hospital in the city.

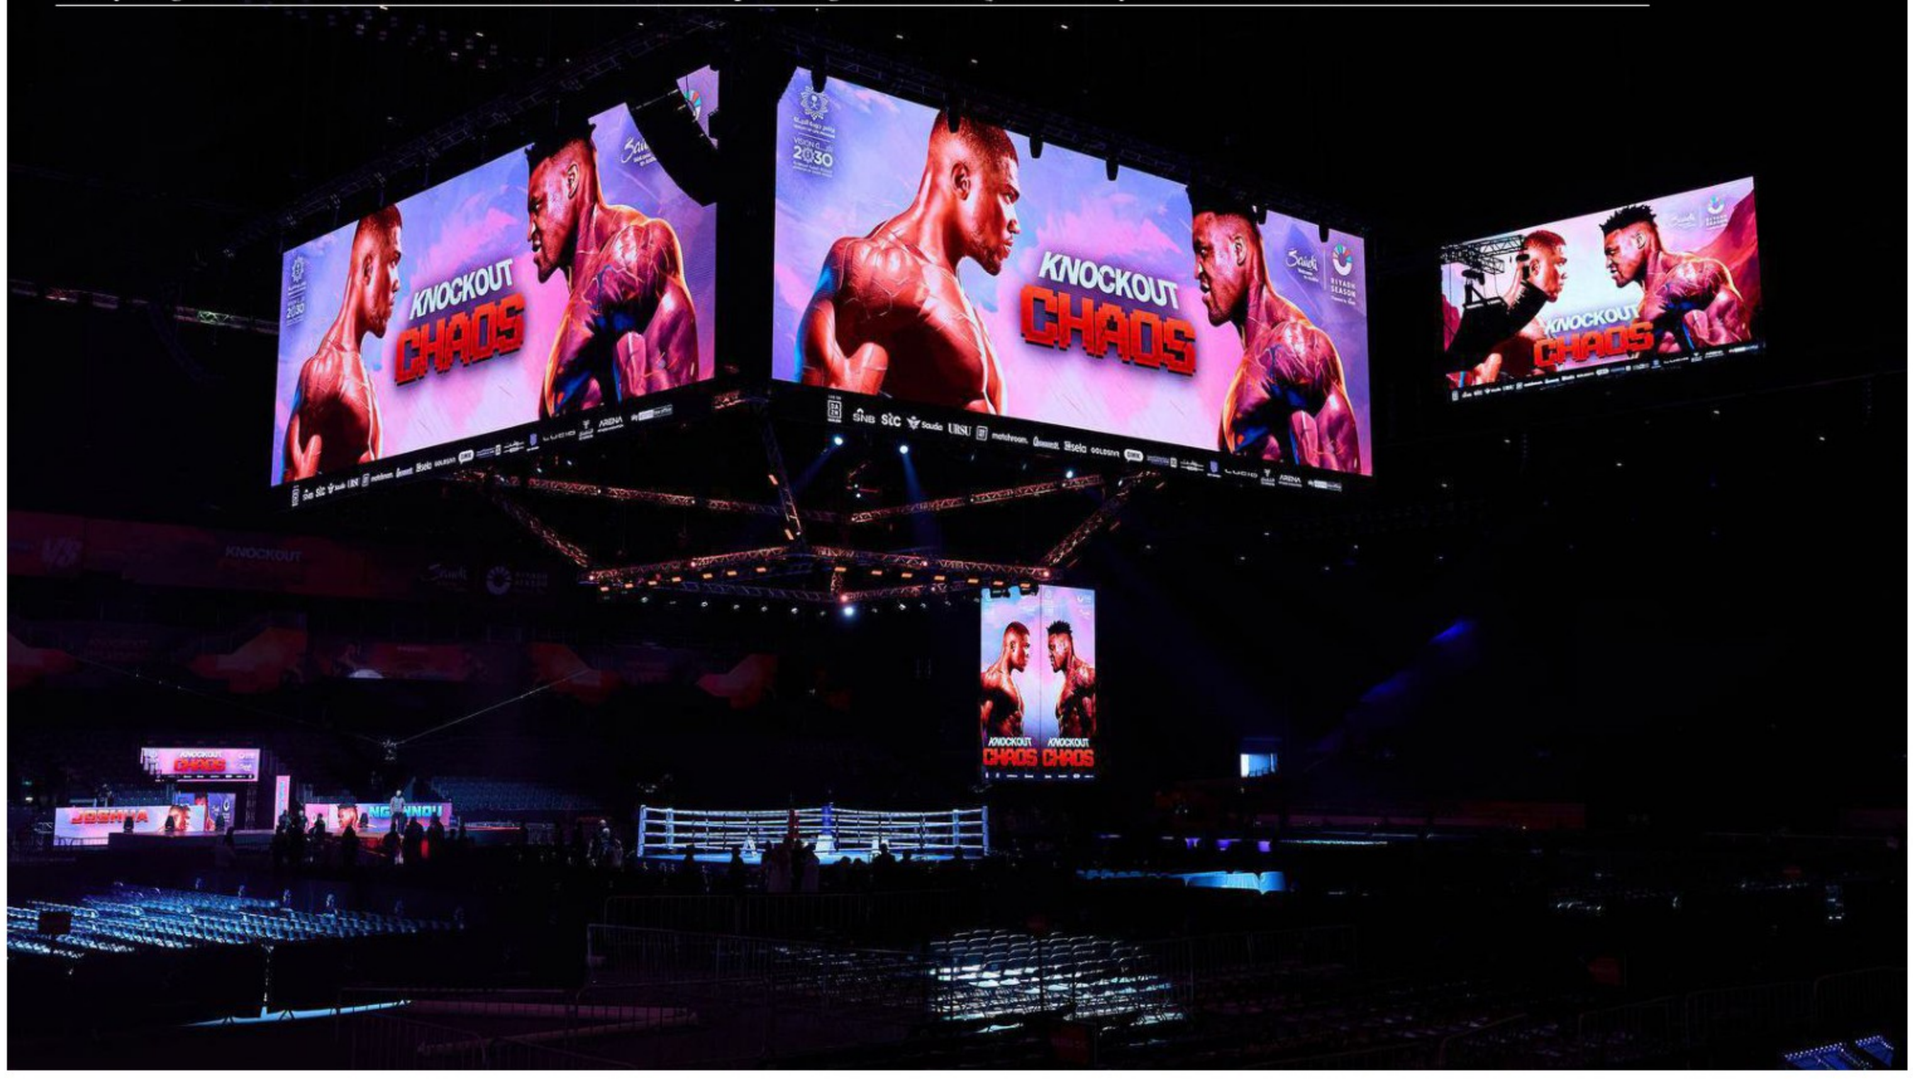
From crossovers to cash-grabs, where is the fight business headed?

There was no doubting the authenticity of the Anthony Joshua-Francis Ngannou boxing bout — it even enhanced Joshua's standing in the heavyweight ranks — but the same can't be said of the upcoming 'clash' between Mike Tyson and influencer-turned-boxer Jake Paul



Ashwin Achal

Francis Ngannou was expected to put up a fight. In his professional boxing debut just five months earlier, Ngannou sent Tyson Fury – an established fighter – to the canvas in the third round.

Ngannou, a former UFC mixed martial arts (MMA) heavyweight champion, more than held his own over 10 rounds. It was only a controversial split decision in Fury's favour that ruined a memorable night for Ngannou.

The impressive performance earned Ngannou a bout against Anthony Joshua, another fighter of high pedigree. Joshua, a two-time world champion, is on a comeback trail, having suffered back-to-back losses to Oleksandr Usyk.

A few questions and a statement

At 34, questions were asked of Joshua's drive and passion. Ngannou, on the other hand, was hungry to make a big statement in his new chosen field.

When the duo squared off a week ago at Riyadh, it was Joshua who sent a message loud and clear. The Briton dismantled Ngannou, delivering a destructive second-round knockout. Joshua floored Ngannou in the first round with a straight right, establishing his dominance early.

The next round signalled an early end to the night, when Ngannou walked into a monstrous blow. The frightening big right hand of Joshua put Ngannou to sleep. It took a few moments and medical attention for Ngannou to get to his feet.

> [Anthony Joshua] was quite special because he stopped me. He did what Tyson Fury couldn't
> FRANCIS NGANNOU

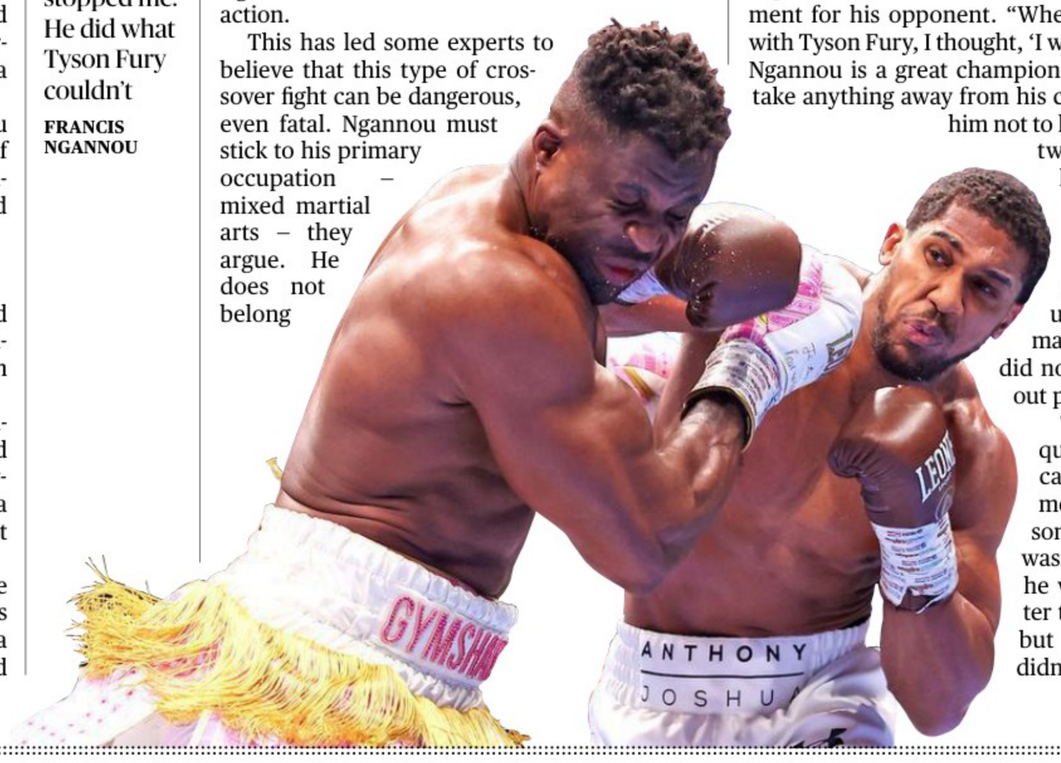
The unexpected one-sided victory exposed Ngannou's weaknesses in full. The French-Cameroonian looked utterly out of place in the ring, providing no resistance to Joshua's advances. Joshua took all the time in the world to take aim and load up punches, and despite the tells, Ngannou failed to take evasive action.

This has led some experts to believe that this type of crossover fight can be dangerous, even fatal. Ngannou must stick to his primary occupation – mixed martial arts – they argue. He does not belong in the boxing arena, as all it takes is one clean blow for things to go horribly wrong.



Ngannou will turn his attention back to MMA, where he will make his PFL SmartCage debut. As it stands now, this is his best route.

A dignified Joshua refrained from celebrating after the knockout.

Joshua even had a few words of encouragement for his opponent. "When I saw the fight with Tyson Fury, I thought, 'I want some of that'. Ngannou is a great champion and this doesn't take anything away from his capabilities. I told him not to leave boxing. He's two fights in and he's fought the best," Joshua said.

Ngannou admitted that Joshua was the better man, adding that he did not feel the knockout punch.

"[Joshua] was quite special because he stopped me. He did what Tyson Fury couldn't. It wasn't my day, and he was just way better than me. It sucks, but it's the game. I didn't feel the punch. I think that's what a knockout is about. I don't feel any pain," Ngannou said.

> Usyk and I have an undisputed world championship fight coming up, and Joshua had a show fight. For actual real boxing, Usyk and I will fight for the number one and two positions
> TYSON FURY

The heavyweight picture

Fury, incidentally, was ringside at Riyadh. Fury dismissed claims that Joshua was now the world's top heavyweight fighter. "Usyk will have something to say about that, considering he beat Joshua twice. Usyk and I have an undisputed world championship fight coming up, and Joshua had a show fight. For actual real boxing, Usyk and I will fight for the number one and two positions," Fury told DAZN Boxing.

"I had a bad performance against Ngannou. This is no secret. Joshua was fantastic. He lit Ngannou up with a perfect right hand. That's what a boxer should do. But if Joshua fights me after I have defeated Usyk, that will be a different game," Fury added.

If all the stars align, Joshua could next take on the winner of Fury-Usyk. Fury and Usyk will meet on May 18 in Saudi Arabia for all the belts, and will face each other in a rematch later in the year. The long-awaited Joshua-Fury fight would electrify the world of heavyweight boxing, but for this to happen, Fury must first get past the supremely proficient Usyk.

Even with Ngannou's novice status in the boxing world, there was no doubting the authenticity of this professional bout.

This is in contrast to another fight that was announced a few days earlier. At 58, former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson will enter the ring to take on social-media-influencer-turned-boxer Jake Paul in a live Netflix special.

Tyson last fought in 2020, in an exhibition match against another former world champion, Roy Jones Jr.

Paul rose to stardom around a decade ago, posting prank videos on his YouTube channel. In 2020, he made his professional boxing debut, and has since won nine and lost one fight. His wins have come against a former NBA basketball player in Nate Robinson, and retired MMA stars including Ben Askren, Tyron Woodley and Anderson Silva.

This is hardly a serious resume, though it must be said that Paul rakes in huge revenue through these fights.

A circus act?

It is not clear yet if Tyson-Paul will count as an exhibition or a professional fight. Either way, the news has not gone down well with boxing purists, who claim that this resembles a circus act which degrades the rich history of the sport.

"My sights are set on becoming a world champion, and now I have a chance to prove myself against the greatest heavyweight champion ever, the baddest man on the planet and the most dangerous boxer of all time. This will be the fight of a lifetime," Paul said.

Tyson hyped the fight by stating that he will "finish" Paul.

"He's grown significantly as a boxer over the years, so it will be a lot of fun to see what the will and ambition of a kid can do with the experience and aptitude of a GOAT. It's a full circle moment that will be beyond thrilling to watch; I started him on his boxing journey on the undercard of my fight with Roy Jones and now I plan to finish him," Tyson said.

The fight, scheduled to be held on July 20 at AT&T Stadium in Arlington (Texas), is unlikely to witness serious action. Tyson and Paul, however, are likely to laugh all the way to the bank.

Alleged incident took place when victim and her mother had gone to seek BSY's help, states FIR

The complainant, the 17-year-old victim's mother, alleged the incident took place at Yediyurappa's residence at Dollars Colony in city on February 2

Shreyas H.S.
BENGALURU

The mother of a 17-year-old girl, who has filed a case of sexual harassment against the former Chief Minister and senior BJP leader B.S. Yediyurappa, has claimed that the alleged incident occurred when she and her daughter had gone to his house at Dollars Colony in Bengaluru on February 2, seeking help in connection with a cheating case.

The Sadashivanagar police late on Thursday booked a case against Mr. Yediyurappa under Section 8 of the Prevention of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012, and Section 354 A of the Indian Penal Code. The victim in this case is said to be a rape survivor in an unrelated case pending elsewhere, sources said.

As per the FIR and the complaint by the victim's mother, accessed by The Hindu, the victim's mother and her minor daughter had allegedly gone to Mr. Yediyurappa's house asking the former Chief Minister to get a Special Investigation Team to be set up to probe her cases "as she was cheated of several crores".

The former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa speaking to the media outside his house in Bengaluru on Friday.

The complainant said she had a conversation with Mr. Yediyurappa on this matter. This was not the first time that she and her daughter had met him. "My daughter considers him as grandfather and calls him thatha (grandfather). I used to call him appaji (a father figure)," according to the complainant.

"During the nine-minute conversation, I informed him that my daughter is a rape survivor. He replied that he knows about her case," the complainant alleged, adding that the former Chief Minister later took the minor into a room. After they had been in the room for about five minutes, the complainant alleged, Mr. Yediyurappa opened the door of the room and her daughter "rushed out weeping".

"Mr. Yediyurappa told me that my daughter is mentally disturbed. As my daughter was crying, I asked her what happened, and she said that she had been molested," the complainant alleged. When confronted, Mr. Yediyurappa was apologetic and promised to help her in the cheating case, she claimed.

"However, when I found my daughter to be emotionally broken, I refused the offer. Later, I again confronted Mr. Yediyurappa and demanded an explanation to which he told me not to reveal the incident, in an intimidating manner. I went back feeling threatened and did not have the courage to report the matter. However, I now thought over the issue, and felt that this is too serious an issue and needs to be reported," the complainant claimed, explaining the delay in filing the complaint.

A rape survivor

BENGALURU

The minor girl victim in the POCSO case filed against the former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa is a rape survivor. She was allegedly raped by a relative in 2015. The case was registered at the Electronics City police station back then. The police, after the probe, have submitted a chargesheet. The case is under trial at the Karnataka High Court. The accused was in prison for four years and is now out on bail.

BSY denies charge, claims he tried to help mother-daughter duo

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

Reacting to the FIR under POCSO Act filed against him, the former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa on Friday denied the allegations and said he would "face the case legally".

"Around one-and-a-half months ago, a mother and daughter had come to my house. They used to come often, but we had not entertained them. But that particular day I called them inside because I saw them crying and asked them what their problems were. She told me injustice had been done to her and sought help. But after some time, she started speaking things against me. I thought the person's mental health was not right. I called Bengaluru Police Commissioner B. Dayananda and asked him to help them and sent them to him. When they said they were in trouble, I even gave them some money," Mr. Yediyurappa told media persons.

"Now, I have learnt that the woman has twisted facts and lodged a complaint against me. I will face it legally," he said. He said that it was "sad that such things happen when one tries to help people".

When quizzed whether he saw a political conspiracy behind the case ahead of the Lok Sabha elections, Mr. Yediyurappa said he would not make such an allegation.

To be at PM's rallies

Sending out a message that he was unfazed by the case, Mr. Yediyurappa's office has issued his travel itinerary to Kalaburagi on Saturday and Shivamogga on Monday to take part in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's rallies. He will also be in Shivamogga on Tuesday and take part in local programmes, his office has said. Mr. Yediyurappa also said he was confident that the BJP would win over 25 seats in the Lok Sabha polls in Karnataka and the people of the State were responding positively.

Several complaints

Meanwhile, sources in the Mr. Yediyurappa's camp said that the mother of victim had filed more than 53 complaints against several people, officials and senior police offices in the past. The sources claimed that she was "habitual complainant."

'Phase 2 of Pavagada Solar Park will be completed in two years'

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The second phase of Pavagada Solar Park will be completed in the next two years, Energy Minister K.J. George said on Friday in Tumakuru.

"To eliminate the energy deficiency in the State and become self-sufficient, the support of locals to establish phase 2 of the solar park, which has a capacity of 2,000 MW, is needed," he said. He also thanked the farmers who have come forward voluntarily to lease out their land.

While expressing the State government's commitment to making Pavagada Solar Park the number one in the world again (it is currently fourth), Mr. George said, "Pavagada will be a part of history. The cooperation of the farmers is the reason we have such a vast solar park here. While Pavagada was previously known as a backward region, it now has solar energy, which is better than all other forms of energy." He also urged the farmers to make the best use of solar energy by using solar pump sets.

Textile merchant arrested in realtor murder case

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The Yelahanka police arrested a textile merchant for allegedly killing a realtor. The accused is identified as Santosh, 38, a resident of Amruthahalli. The deceased, identified as Krishna Yadav, 55, was living at Maruthinagar with his family.

According to the police, Yadav first met the accused at a mobile shop at Dasarahalli and became friends. Yadav had promised to help him financially as the accused was reeling under debt. On Monday, when Yadav and Santosh were commuting by car, the accused allegedly spoke ill about Yadav's wife.

This led to a scuffle and in a fit of rage, Santosh killed him using a screwdriver and fled. Initially, the police suspected that money was the motive behind the murder, but later during investigation, it was found that a scuffle over a woman was the reason.

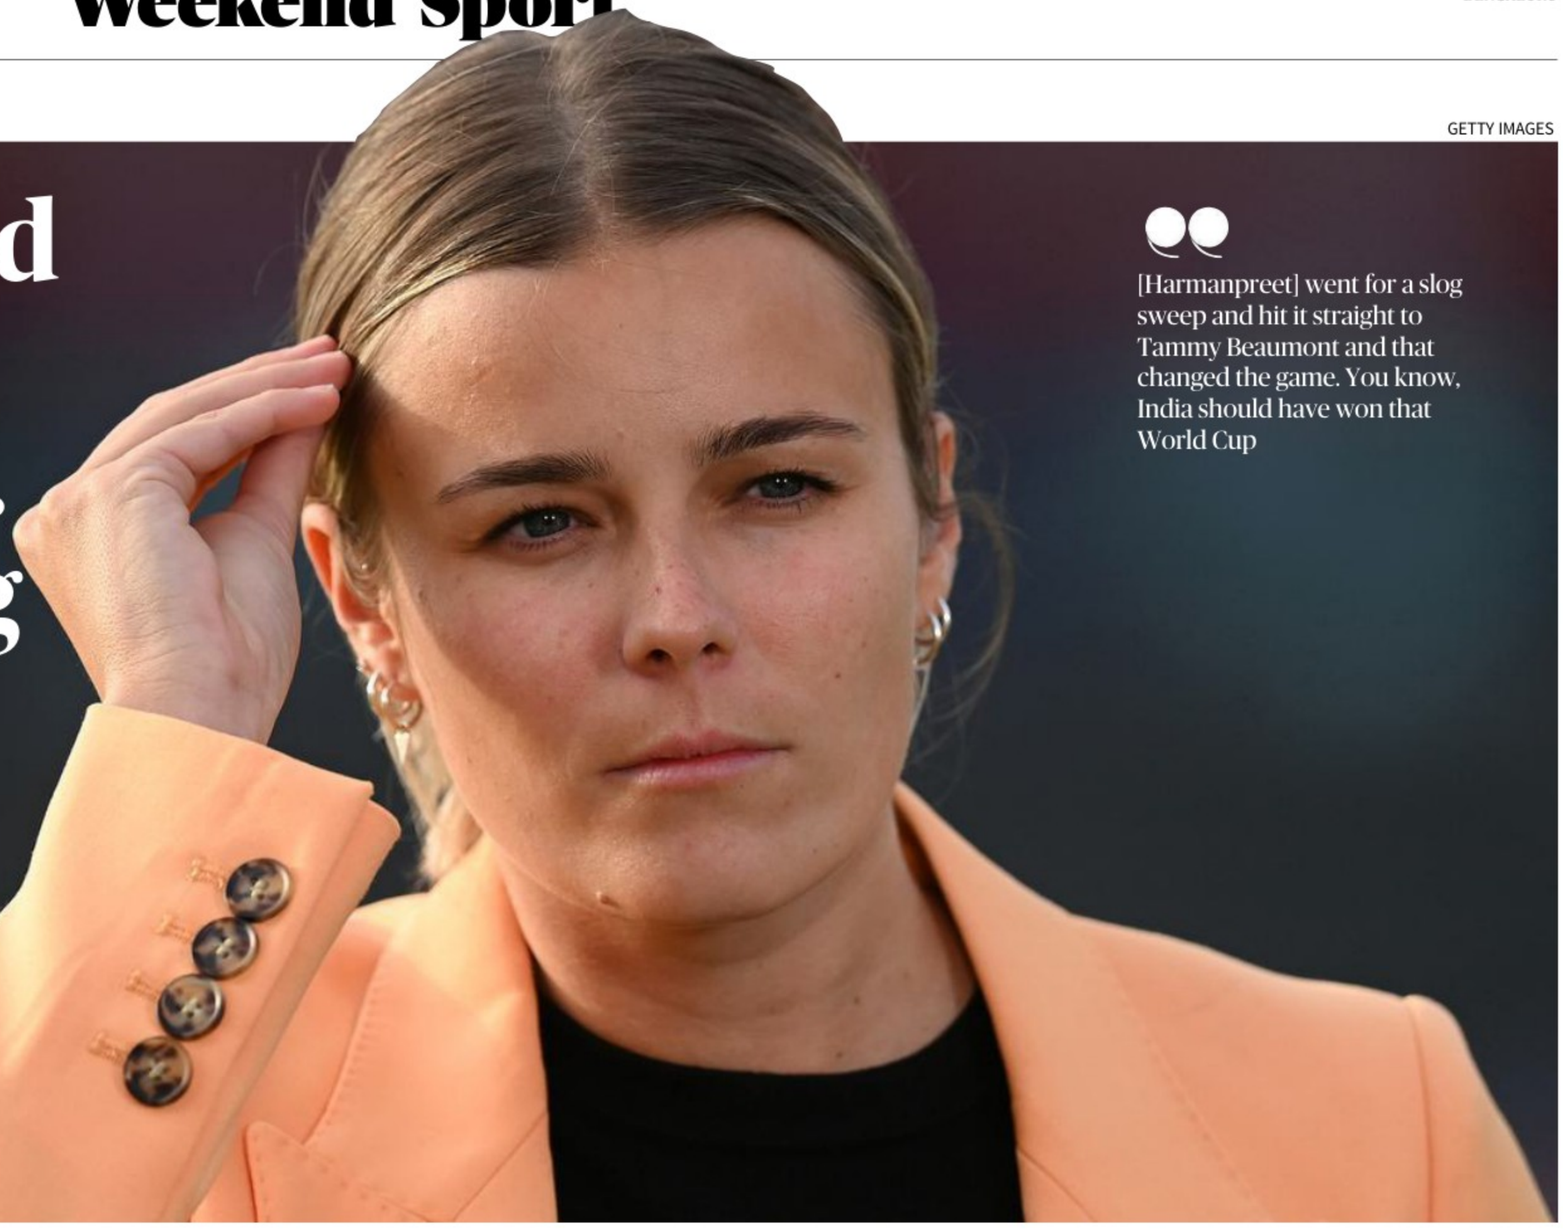
‘I’m really good friends with Harmanpreet. I loved playing against her’

Alex Hartley turned the 2017 World Cup final around by dismissing her ‘good friend’ — it was the highlight of the English left-arm spinner’s career. After retiring at the age of 29, she has stayed involved in the game in her different avatars: coach, commentator, podcast host



> [Harmanpreet] went for a slog sweep and hit it straight to Tammy Beaumont and that changed the game. You know, India should have won that World Cup

INTERVIEW

Alex Hartley

P.K. Ajith Kumar

On radio during an England women’s cricket match some time back, Alex Hartley’s co-commentator told her that one of her records was going to be broken. “Normally I am in the record books for things like the most expensive bowling figures,” she said. The commentators’ box broke into hearty laughter.

Hartley has indeed made her presence felt on the BBC’s iconic Test Match Special. The former World Cup-winning left-arm spinner also entertains listeners with her popular podcast ‘No Balls’, which she presents alongside her former teammate Kate Cross.

Hartley is, of course, in the headlines these days more for her coaching. She is the spin coach of Multan Sultans in the Pakistan Super League. The franchise’s fast bowling coach is also a woman – Cath Dalton from Ireland; as is the general manager – Hijab Zahid.

The strong female presence in the support staff seems to be working for the Sultans. They qualified for the knockout stage with three games to spare.

Not surprisingly, that was one of the topics Hartley talked about in the latest edition of ‘No Balls’, which went on air just a few days before the International Women’s Day. “It is such a relief actually,” she said. “There was a little bit of criticism around us going into the competition; we got rid of six of our key players and had a revamp in the staff, no Andy Flower. We have the first two female coaches in Pakistan as well as the first female general manager.”

Though she retired as a cricketer last year, at the age of 29, Hartley remains very much part of the game in her different avatars. Excerpts from an interview with The Hindu:

> I like watching Smriti Mandhana. She is unreal, isn’t she? She has got great technique. Shafali Verma is another Indian cricketer I enjoy watching

You retired rather young. You played a key role in England’s World Cup win in 2017, but do you think you could have done more?

No, I don’t have any regrets. You know, I tried my hardest for as long as I could. And I feel nice when I look at who has taken my place in the England team.

Sophie Ecclestone, the world’s No. 1 bowler.

She became the world’s best bowler at the age of 20. I did everything I could for that England team, and to get there into that team. And I am very proud of it.

How do you look back at your international career? You made your debut against Pakistan...

My debut was rubbish. I didn’t bowl very well. I have blocked it out of my memory. I didn’t think I would ever play for England again.

But a year later, you were England’s second-highest wicket-taker at the 2017 World Cup. Winning that World Cup must be the high point of your career.

Without a doubt. There isn’t a day that would even come close to that.

And you took India’s most important wicket. It was Harmanpreet Kaur’s first game after her sensational innings in the semifinal against Australia. She was batting on 51 and India was looking pretty good at that time.

But we knew it might rain, so we were trying to stay ahead of the Duckworth-Lewis-Stern System. And we were ahead. And I guess, I was very naive in that situation. I just came on to bowl and she hit me for two sixes. The ball I got her out to was probably the worst of the lot. She went for a slog sweep and hit it straight to Tammy Beaumont and that changed the game. India was still ahead of the game, though. You know, India should have won that World Cup.

How did you enjoy commentating on the men’s World Cup in India for the listeners back home and in Australia?

Very much. It was great travelling all over India.

Was radio commentary something you were planning to do?

No. I fell into it, to be honest. It was never something that I thought I would do. I just tried it one day for the Lancashire versus Worcestershire game and then became part of the BBC commentary team. I love it, though I am still not sure whether I will get to do it for the next match.

Your podcast is doing well.

Yes it is doing great. We have been doing it since 2019, I think.

How did the idea take shape?

Somebody literally tweeted me and Kate Cross saying, you should do a podcast. And we thought: Let’s do that, yeah. I had just lost my England contract, so it was, you know, a bit of fun for me to be able to do that. And, yeah, we are still doing it to this day.

How is women’s cricket doing back home in England? The Hundred has done some good to it, hasn’t it?

The women’s game is thriving. You know, it is getting better and better. It is getting bigger and bigger. Yes, The Hundred has really helped. It has been amazing. We have sold-out grounds, having 18,000 or 20,000 people coming to watch the games; among them are so many women and girls. And selling out the Women’s Ashes was unbelievable.

Talking of the Ashes, why do you think the Australian women’s team is so good? They now have one of the all-time great teams in sport.

They are so good because they have been professional for longer than everybody else. You know, their domestic set-up has been pro for a lot longer than ours has. They are the best team in the world and others have to catch up.

Looking back at your own career, who are the cricketers that you enjoyed playing against?

You know, for me, it was always about playing with my friends and against my friends. I am really good friends with Harmanpreet. So, I loved playing against her. I loved being on the same team as her as well. I have also enjoyed playing against Suzie Bates and Sophie Devine.

Devine, like you, has a terrific sense of humour.

Yes, she has. I also like watching Smriti Mandhana. She is unreal, isn’t she? She has got great technique. And Shafali Verma is another Indian cricketer I enjoy watching. A male Indian cricketer I like to watch is Yuzvendra Chahal. He is a lovely bowler. I am a massive RCB fan. He was there for a while before going to Rajasthan.

How do you look at the future of women’s cricket across the globe?

It looks great, with competitions like the WPL, though I believe India should have started it long ago. There were talks about the WPL during the 2017 World Cup. And I would like women’s cricket getting better in countries outside Australia, England and India, the top three. That can be achieved with more money.

GAME THEORY

The shifting pattern of the classical format

The pattern of Test cricket has changed over the decades: there has been a clear shift towards decisive results and shorter Tests. The data show that between the 1920s and the 1990s, a third to almost a half of the games finished in draws. The Tests during these decades were typically longer. In the 1960s, for instance, there were on average 2409 balls or about 401 six-ball overs per Test. This has reduced significantly since the 2000s. The average Test over the last three decades has ranged between 1832 balls or 305 six-ball overs (2020s) and 1975 balls or 329 six-ball overs (2000s): at an over-rate of 90 per day, the average Test in these decades has not entered the fifth day.

Decade	Tests	Draws	% of drawn Tests	Balls per Test
1870s	3	0	0.00	1586

Ice-capades

The recent IBSF Bobsleigh World Championship in Winterberg, Germany, had exactly what you would expect of athletes trying to slide swiftly on ice: bone-rattling action.

Sleds, as a mode of transport, have been around for centuries, but it wasn’t until the 1860s that the modern sport of bobsleigh was invented.

A few thrill-seekers in Switzerland attached two sleds together and fashioned a basic steering mechanism. Wealthy tourists wanted to try it, but their appetite for danger was considerably smaller, and so a protective chassis was added to the sleigh.

Today’s bobsleigh competitions feature contestants making timed runs down narrow, twisting, banked tracks. The sport has advanced technologically: the vehicles have become lighter and more aerodynamic over the years.

Modern tracks — made of concrete and coated with ice — are required to have at least one straight section and one ‘labyrinth’ (three turns in quick succession without a straight).

At speeds of up to 150 kmph, the risk of injury is high, and major accidents (some fatal) have been reported.

Investment tips for NRIs

REAL ESTATE

Bhavik Bhandari

India's real estate market is dynamic and diverse, offering a wide range of options for discerning investors. From residential developments in metropolitan cities to commercial spaces in burgeoning business districts, the opportunities are as vast as the country itself.

Metropolitan cities like Mumbai, Delhi, and Bengaluru have consistently been hotspots for real estate investments.

These urban hubs not only promise robust rental yields but also present the potential for substantial capital appreciation. However, understanding the local market dynamics, regulatory landscape, and demographic trends is crucial for making informed investment decisions.

NRIs can invest and even generate additional revenue streams by adhering to RBI guidelines outlined in the Foreign Exchange Management Act.

Financing real estate investments in India involves careful consideration of currency exchange rates, taxation, and legalities.

NRIs can explore various financing options, including home loans from Indian banks, external commercial borrowings, and Non-Resident External or Non-Resident Ordinary accounts.

Each option comes with its own set of advantages and considerations, requiring a tailored approach based on individual financial goals.

As the real estate sector prepares for expansion, it grapples with challenges such as escalating construction costs and economic uncertainties.

Developers must employ innovative solutions, cost-effective construction methods, and a profound understanding of market dynamics to successfully navigate these challenges.

The shift towards digital platforms for property transactions and marketing presents an opportunity for real estate professionals to broaden their reach and cater to a tech-savvy clientele.

Looking into the future of the real estate sector, the convergence of economic and political stability, favourable policies, and technological progress has set the stage for a vibrant era in NRI investments in India.

Vegetable prices skyrocket in city as supply takes a hit

Beans selling at ₹80 to ₹120 a kg in retail markets while carrot is selling at ₹60 to ₹80 a kg

Jahnavi T. R.
BENGALURU

To add to woes during summer, the prices of vegetables have shot up in Bengaluru in the last few days, thanks to a supply shortage and the quick deterioration in the quality of vegetables. While the prices have seen a slight increase in wholesale markets, the prices have almost doubled in retail shops.

"As there is a lot of heat emanating from the ground and no rain, farmers are not able to take out the yield which is why there is a supply crunch in the market. Until there is good rain, which might be in another two months, the prices will remain high," said N. Manjunath Reddy, a vegetable trader at K.R. Market.

While the price of beans is ₹50 to ₹60 a kg in wholesale markets like the Kalasipalya market and K.R. Market, it is anywhere between ₹80 and ₹120 in retail markets. Even in HOPCOMS, the price was ₹80 a kg on Friday. Similarly, carrots are priced at ₹40 to ₹50 a kg in wholesale markets and they are selling at ₹60 to ₹80 in retail shops. The price of Ooty carrots has also breached the ₹100 mark in retail markets.

Capsicum (₹50 in wholesale and ₹70 to ₹100 in retail), brinjal (₹25 in wholesale and ₹40 to ₹60 in retail), radish (at ₹40 to ₹45 a kg in retail) and cabbage (₹40 to ₹50 a kg in retail) are some of the other vegetables whose prices have gone up.

Vegetable prices on Friday

Vegetable	Price in wholesale market (per kg)	Price at Hopcoms (per kg)
Beans	50 - 60	80
Carrot	40 - 50	74
Capsicum	50	66
Brinjal	25	54-62
Cabbage	20	42
Tomato	20 - 25	23

K.T.S. Niyamath, a vegetable trader from Kalasipalya, explained why retail prices are significantly higher than wholesale prices. "If they buy 100 kg of a vegetable from wholesale markets, the retailers will only be able to sell around 80 to 85 kg for a good price. Due to the heat, the vegetables will rot quickly. If they do not manage to sell the vegetables the same day, then they will not even get half the price the next day as quality reduces," he said. However, he said that the current retail prices cannot be justified.

He also predicted that if the skies do not open up in the next week, then the prices of vegetables will shoot up further as supply would take an even bigger hit.

Greens not available

Due to heat damage, the availability of green leafy vegetables has also been reduced in the markets. On the city's outskirts, finding daily essentials such as fresh coriander and mint has also become a problem. "I had to check three shops earlier this week to find a bunch of good quality fresh coriander. Even then, I had to pay around ₹35 for a bunch," said Vishal Kumar, a resident of Yelahanka.

Farmers in Cauvery basin districts upset over restrictions imposed on use of water

Darshan Devaiah B.P.
BENGALURU

Directives from authorities in the Cauvery basin districts prohibiting the use of river water for irrigation have agitated farmers and planters, particularly in Mysuru, Mandya, and Kodagu.

Farmers have asserted that this is crucial irrigation time to safeguard crops. However, with the State grappling with drought, priority is being given to supplying drinking water to Bengaluru, Mysuru, and other major towns.

In Kodagu, planters have initiated irrigation for their coffee plantations, but the district administration has prohibited the use of river water for it.

Nanda Ganapathy, a farmer, said: "Irrigation is a crucial process for ensuring good yields annually. However, the district administration has instructed farmers not to utilise river water for it. This decision will significantly affect coffee plantations, given the lack of adequate rainfall in Kodagu this year."

Farmers staging a protest in Madikeri on Friday.

On Friday, members of the Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) protested against the district administration in front of the Deputy Commissioner's office in Madikeri.

K. Manu Somaiah, district president of KRRS said: "The Cauvery originates in Kodagu, yet it's unfortunate that we are now facing water scarcity. The primary reason for the depletion of Cauvery water in the district is the destruction of forests and the use agricultural land in the name of real estate development, which has been permitted by the district administration."

The Federation of Farmers' Organisations and the State Sugarcane Growers' Federation in Mandya have been urging the government to release water from the Krishnaraja Sagar and Kabini dam for irrigation to protect standing crops.

Kurubur Shanthakumar, a farmers' leader, said: "Farmers from Old Mysore and Bengaluru are suffering owing to bar imposed on irrigation. We have appealed to the government to release water into canals to protect crops and provide drinking water to the people in the Cauvery basin. However, the government is prioritising water release to Tamil Nadu. This not only affects people's access to drinking water but also poses challenges for livestock that is deprived of water."

Severe scarcity

In Kodagu, towns like Madikeri, Virajpet, and Kushalnagar are facing a severe scarcity of drinking water. Even borewells and wells have dried up, and locals say authorities have not been responsive in addressing the crisis in the district.

Codava National Council president N.U. Nachappa said: "Kodagu serves as the primary catchment area for the Cauvery. We are significant stakeholders and shareholders of Cauvery water, yet we are being deprived of utilising it to satisfy our basic water needs."

Speaking to The Hindu, Kodagu Deputy Commissioner Venkat Raja said: "The order is not to trouble anyone, especially farmers. With drought persisting this year and there being scarcity of drinking water, it's crucial to conserve water for essential needs, especially with peak summer ahead. We are with farmers and have implemented numerous measures to address the water crisis in the district."

Holding board exams for classes 5 and 8 is contrary to RTE Act, says parents' body

Prior consultation process with all stakeholders is mandatory before making major changes in the examination system for any class, association tells High Court

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The State government's decision to conduct board exams for classes 5 and 8 is a blatant violation of the provisions of the Right of Children for Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, it was argued before the High Court of Karnataka on Friday on behalf of the RTE Students' Parents' Association, Bengaluru.

The introduction of board exams is also contrary to the object of the national curriculum framework and education policy, it was argued on behalf of the association.

The arguments were made before a Division Bench comprising Justice K. Somashekar and Justice Rajesh Rai K. during the hearing on the appeal filed by the State government challenging the Single Judge's March 6 order of quashing the decision of holding board exams for classes 5, 8, 9, and 11 without framing the rules for this purpose.

What association said

Also, it was contended on behalf of the association that involvement and prior consultation with all stakeholders – the schools, teachers and parents – is an essential requirement during the overhaul of the examination/assessment system for any class as they represent the interests of the students. The parents, in particular, have the fundamental right to have their say in such matters, the association has argued.

The apex court has ruled that changes in any examination system, including competitive examinations such as JEE and NEET, cannot be introduced during the midway of an academic year, it was contended. The State government has no power to act contrary to the provisions of the RTE Act and the conduct of the State government in holding board exams is nothing but "a fraud playing on the RTE Act", it was argued on behalf of the association while referring to Section 30 of the RTE Act.

Not beyond March 18

Meanwhile, the Bench expressed its displeasure over the conduct of two junior advocates, representing the petitioner-associations – Registered Unaided Private Schools' Management Association-Karnataka, Bengaluru, and Organisation for Unaided Recognised Schools, Bengaluru – for seeking adjournment till March 18 to enable their senior to come and argue the matter. The Bench made it clear to them that it would conclude hearing on the appeal if their senior fail to make arguments on March 18.

Hrudaya Jyoti scheme for cardiac healthcare launched in State

The Hindu Bureau
HUBBALLI

Minister for Health and Family Welfare Dinesh Gundu Rao on Friday launched the Dr. Puneeth Rajkumar Heart Health Scheme (Hrudaya Jyoti) to cater to the cardiac healthcare needs of the poor and general public. It is the first scheme of its kind in the entire country, he said.

Inaugurating the State-level launch programme of the scheme in Dharwad, Mr. Rao said the government had launched the scheme in memory of actor and philanthropist Puneeth Rajkumar to provide emergency treatment and healthcare facilities for cardiac patients.

"In most cases of heart attack, the patient breathes his last before reaching the hospitals with the required facilities. One of the reasons for deaths was the lack of treatment facilities for cardiac patients in taluk hospitals. To provide cardiac healthcare facilities to taluk hospitals, the government has launched the Hrudaya Jyoti scheme," he said. The Minister said that in the first phase, the scheme had been launched in 71 taluk and 15 district hospitals. As many as 65 cardiac surgeons from various district hospitals will be available online to guide the taluk health officials in treating and protecting the lives of cardiac patients.

"Under the scheme, any person suffering a heart attack will be immediately administered an injection worth ₹30,000 for free. The scheme will be extended to all the taluk hospitals by next year," he announced.

The Health Minister said steps were being taken to provide first aid to the person suffering from heart problems at public places like railway stations, bus stations, and other busy areas. Defibrillators were being made available outside the hospitals also for the first time.

Releasing the handbook on the training programme under the scheme, Labour Minister Santosh Lad termed it "a model for the whole country".

City NBFC buys 1,000 private schools for ₹126 crore

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

Bengaluru-based Varthana Finance, a non-banking finance company (NBFC) that provides loans to affordable private schools and students to pursue higher education, acquired 1,000 schools owned by India School Finance Company's (ISFC) across 14 States for ₹126 crore, the company said on Friday.

In Karnataka
Over 100 of these 1,000 schools are in Karnataka. Steve Hardgrave, CEO & co-founder of Varthana, said, "Taking the ISFC portfolio under Varthana's wing is a significant step in our journey to ensure that India's schools are well supported to deliver quality education to the country's 350 million young people."

'Anywhere registration' of documents set to be extended to all districts soon

Facility was offered first in Bengaluru in 2011; it was launched in Belagavi and Tumakuru on Thursday. As many as 72 sub-registrar offices covered

Sharath S. Srivatsa
BENGALURU

About 13 years after the concept of 'anywhere registration' was rolled out in Bengaluru to provide ease of registration to people, the State government has decided to extend it to all the districts in Karnataka. While the government launched the 'anywhere registration' facility in Tumakuru and Belagavi on Thursday, it will be extended to all districts over the next couple of months.

The concept was launched in 2011 in Bengaluru. Now, as many as 72 sub-registrar offices in five registration districts of Bengaluru (Rajajinagar, Basavanagudi, Gandhinagar, Jayanagar, and Shivajinagar), and Tumakuru and Belagavi districts have been covered. Under the concept, people are given the option to choose any of the sub-registrar's offices within their district to register documents, instead of approaching only the jurisdictional sub-registrar.

'Worked fine'
"While I am very enthusiastic to scale it up, I have to be equally careful and watch the experience. We want to have 15 to 20 days of pilot in two districts. If the pilot succeeds, my system is ready for the Statewide launch. In about two months after the pilot, it could be rolled out in other districts too," Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda told The Hindu. "It worked perfectly fine in Bengaluru because it is an integrated entity whereas district is not so integrated," he explained.

The concept will also help in optimising human resources and infrastructure, according to Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda

In the State, Tumakuru, Shivamogga, Mangaluru, Mysuru, Belagavi, Hubballi, Kalaburagi, and Ballari cities report big registrations after Bengaluru. The extension of 'anywhere registration' to districts is coming after the launch of several online initiatives that have brought down the turnaround time for registrations in the State, including scheduling appointments after uploading documents and visiting sub-registrar offices only for registration and online marriage registration in a certain category where the visit to the sub-registrar office is not necessary.

Benefits of scheme
The Minister said that the anywhere registration concept would also help in optimising human resources and infrastructure. "There are complaints that some offices are overcrowded and infrastructure is not adequate. While some offices report 15 to 25 registrations in a day, some offices report over 70 registrations a day. By multiplying options in allowing people to choose any sub-registrar office in the district, overcrowding can be prevented and time utilisation is better with transfer of load."

Meanwhile, Revenue Department sources also point out that the new system would help in combating corruption as people have multiple choices to register their documents. "By democratising the registration process, people will have the choice as alternative offices are available, resulting in reduced corruption," sources explained.

For 12 years, sources said, there was no political will to extend the concept to the State as officials in the department had resisted its extension. "It was just a lack of will. If it could succeed in Bengaluru there is no reason for this concept not being extended to other districts," sources in the department said.

SATS invests ₹360 crore to open kitchen in city

Mini Tejaswi
BENGALURU

SATS Food Solutions India (SFSI), a subsidiary of SATS Ltd., that offers food and airport gateway services across Asia, has opened its largest kitchen outside Singapore, in Bengaluru.

The company has invested ₹360 crore to set up this frozen food manufacturing facility, said the company on Friday.

The eco-friendly kitchen, spread across a 2,21,000 sq. ft area near Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), can dish out 40,000 kg of ready-to-eat food items a day to institutions, commercial establishments, schools, hospitals, large food retailers, QSR formats, cloud kitchens, cafes, and lounges across India and global markets. The kitchen will also serve the culinary requirements of the SATS network in Singapore, it said.

Stanley Goh, CEO of SATS Food Solutions, said, "We will use SATS' domain knowledge in culinary expertise, product design, food technology, quality large-scale production, and packaging innovation to develop, distribute and export the food products produced from the India central kitchen for India and international markets."

With the new food production facility, the company now can serve up to 7,50,000 meals per day across the Asia region.

Sagar Dighe, Director and CEO, SATS Food Solutions India, said the company had deployed various technologies such as Internet-of-things (IoT) and sensor-based lighting systems for management to monitor and conserve energy usage in real-time. The IoT-powered sensors also monitor the facility's ambient temperature, humidity, air quality and utilities in the facility such as cold stores and cooking stations, to ensure food integrity and safety. IoT would also allow pre-programmed cooking processes to be monitored via live dashboards, with alerts automatically triggered if cooking timings and temperature settings deviate from pre-set recipes, Mr. Dighe explained. The food facility also uses technology to predict risks, improve traceability and transparency of key product components, and increase data reliability, he claimed.

Many BJP, JD(S) workers keen to join Congress: Shivakumar

Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar (in picture) on Friday said that many BJP and JD(S) workers are keen to join the ranks of the Congress party. Speaking to reporters at the party office, Mr. Shivakumar, who is also KPCC chief, said: "We have given instructions to party workers to facilitate the joining at the local level as many BJP and JD(S) workers and leaders are keen to join the Congress." "There is a straight fight between the Congress and the JD(S) in about five to six constituencies. The party workers will obviously look at their political future in this scenario. They are worried for their future as more and more members of former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda's family are joining politics," he said.

Yediyurappa did to me what Dronacharya did to Ekalavya: Madhuswamy

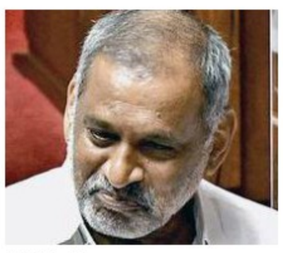
BENGALURU



J.C. Madhuswamy

BJP veteran leader B.S. Yediyurappa on Friday faced the anger of his protege J.C. Madhuswamy, who has been disappointed over not getting ticket to contest for Tumakuru Lok Sabha seat.

"I trusted Yediyurappa as my leader. But he sacrificed me like how Dronacharya sacrificed Ekalavya," remarked Mr. Madhuswamy, while accusing him of not fighting to get him the party ticket.

Mr. Madhuswamy made it clear that he would not support BJP nominee V. Somanna from Tumakuru, but said: "Staying in the BJP is not safe. Going to the Congress too is not safe either. As of now, I have not thought of quitting the BJP. The party has not done any harm to me." He said he was holding a meeting with his supporters to decide his political move.

"I had followed Mr. Yediyurappa to KJP when he had quit the BJP earlier. I did not even question him then about his moves. Then, I followed him when he returned to the BJP. But this is what happened to me for trusting him completely," Mr. Madhuswamy alleged.

Eshwarappa to contest as Independent against BSY's son

The former Deputy CM spared no opportunity to make it clear that the contest was not against Narendra Modi but 'to free the party from the clutches of Yediyurappa and his sons'

SHIVAMOGGA

BJP leader K.S. Eshwarappa at a meeting of his supporters in Shivamogga on Friday. SATHISH G.T.

BJP senior leader and OBC face K.S. Eshwarappa announced on Friday, at a meeting of his supporters, that he would contest against party veteran B.S. Yediyurappa's son B.Y. Raghavendra for the Shivamogga Lok Sabha seat. This follows his son K.E. Kantesh not getting party ticket to contest for the Haveri Lok Sabha seat.

"I am contesting to free the party from the clutches of one family – Yediyurappa and his sons – and ensure that the party goes on the right path in tune with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision," Mr. Eshwarappa said, while addressing the meeting of his supporters that had been convened in Shivamogga to elicit their views. He said he had chosen to contest the election "as a voice of hundreds of party workers disappointed over the recent developments in the party."

'No doubt'

Mr. Eshwarappa clarified that his contest was not against Mr. Modi. "I often say my party is my mother. But should I keep quiet when my mother is being strangled?" he asked.

"When I contest as an Independent candidate, the party may serve me a notice or expel me. But if I win the contest, all the senior leaders of the party will convince me and take me back. There is no doubt about that," he maintained.

"Mr. Modi has often criticised the Congress, citing its dynastic politics. But, in Karnataka, the BJP is going the Congress way. My contest is to ensure that the party goes as per Mr. Modi's vision," he said, showering praises on the Prime Minister.

Sri Rama and Modi

Going out of his way to state that he would not go against Mr. Modi, Mr. Eshwarappa said: "If my heart is opened, you would see Sri Rama on one side and Mr. Modi on the other. What would you see if Mr. Yediyurappa's heart was opened?" he asked. His supporters shouted "Shobhakka", referring to Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje, who has been given ticket from Bengaluru North. He added, "In Mr. Yediyurappa's heart, you would see his children on one side and Ms. Shobha on the other. This is not my opinion, but what party workers believe," he said.

Listing out the reasons for his decision, the former Minister said that when he announced his retirement from electoral politics last year, senior leaders of the party had assured him that both he and his son would get better opportunities. "However, nothing happened. My son and I met Mr. Yediyurappa and sought ticket from Haveri. He not only assured ticket but also promised that he would get Mr. Kantesh elected from the constituency. But, now former Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has been fielded from the seat," he said.

Varied views

Earlier, many leaders representing Kuruba, Bhavasara Kshatriya, Veerashaiva, Arya Vysya, Idiga, Brahmin, and other communities spoke. While many urged Mr. Eshwarappa to contest the election as an Independent, a few suggested he consult senior leaders and resolve the issue within the party's forum.

Nataraj Bhagawat, leader of Brahmin Sabha in Shivamogga, said that contesting against the BJP candidate would be termed as a contest against Mr. Modi. "This is Mr. Modi's election. If you contest, it would be against Mr. Modi. Hence, it would be better to resolve the differences within the party's forum. You have contacts at all levels in the party," he said.

Suresh K. Balegundi, leader of the Idiga community, suggested Mr. Eshwarappa continue his efforts to secure BJP ticket for Mr. Kantesh, instead of contesting from Shivamogga. "The BJP has proposed to field Mr. Bommai in Haveri. We all know that Mr. Bommai never wanted to contest. There are chances to get ticket for Mr. Kantesh even now. Let us all urge the PM, during his visit to Shivamogga, to demand ticket for Mr. Kantesh," he said.

Kumaraswamy to bury the hatchet with Sumalatha?

The Hindu Bureau
MYSURU

The compulsions of coalition politics seem to have forced Janata Dal (Secular) leader H.D. Kumaraswamy to sue for peace with his political bête noire and Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambareesh.

Till a few weeks ago, the two used to go hammer and tongs at each other and spared no occasion to vilify each other to further sully the muddy waters of Mandya politics. But, on Friday, Mr. Kumaraswamy adopted a dignified demeanor and referred to Ms. Sumalatha as "his sister". The former Chief Minister was addressing JD(S) workers at a convention in Mandya in preparations for the forthcoming Lok Sabha polls.

The current change of stance comes in the backdrop of BJP and JD(S) forging an alliance to fight the Congress in the State in the Parliamentary elections.

Though Ms. Sumalatha contested and won as an Independent in 2019 Parliamentary elections, the BJP threw its weight behind her and did not field a candidate and she became the first MP to be elected as an Independent.

In a quid pro quo, she extended her support to the BJP in the 2023 Assembly elections and was expecting the BJP to field her from Mandya in the forthcoming polls. But the pre-poll alliance between the BJP and the JD(S) has complicated matters for all the three. It is in this backdrop that Mr. Kumaraswamy's friendly gesture is being seen.

Differences and bickering are common in politics but that does not mean that this has to be prolonged, added Mr. Kumaraswamy, hinting that he was preparing to bury the hatchet with Ms. Sumalatha and sue for peace for a possible political gain.

HC castigates HESCOM for denying benefits to ex-staffer without probing alleged loss of ₹86 lakh caused by him

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The High Court of Karnataka has castigated Hubballi Electricity Supply Company Ltd. (HESCOM) for denying retirement benefits to a former employee from past 11 years in the guise of making recovery of loss of ₹86 lakh allegedly caused by him while in service, without holding any inquiry as mandated by law.

"None of the necessary procedures for initiating recovery are even followed by the company against the petitioner. There cannot be better illustration of the employer taking the employee's rights for a ride and imposing huge recovery of ₹86,52,163 against the petitioner," the court observed.

Justice M. Nagaprasanna passed the order while allowing a petition filed by 70-year-old A.M. Makandar, who had retired as junior engineer.

"The petitioner, who retired on May 31, 2013, is fighting for grant of pension even today after 11 years of superannuation. It is not paid on account of recoveries against the petitioner all of which have been ordered in blatant violation of the principles of natural justice. The case at hand appears to be sui generis [of its own kind] as constitutional courts would rarely come across such grossly arbitrary action by the employer, against its employee," the court observed.

Stating that "there cannot be better illustration of the employer taking the employee's rights for a ride," the High Court said "the petitioner, who has been left bleeding; would never see the wound healing" if the terminal benefits are not paid without any further delay with interest. The court also imposed a cost of ₹1 lakh on HESCOM.

Quashing steps taken to recover ₹86 lakh from him, the court directed HESCOM to pay all his terminal benefits with effect from May 31, 2013, with 6% interest within four weeks, failing which it would have to pay interest at 12%.

Panel formed to study feasibility of setting up farm varsity in Mandya

The Hindu Bureau
BENGALURU

The Karnataka government has constituted a six-member expert committee to examine the feasibility of a proposal for setting up University of Agricultural Sciences at VC Farm of Mandya district.

The committee is headed by former Vice-Chancellor of UAS-Bengaluru Rajendra Prasad. The committee's other members are P.L. Patil, Vice-Chancellor of UAS-Dharwad, A.B. Patil, retired registrar of UAS-Bengaluru, K.M. Harinikumar, retired administrative officer of UAS-Bengaluru, and Chandrahas G. Thalukura, retired joint secretary of Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms. V.R. Kiresur, director of Education of UAS-Dharwad, is the member convener of the expert committee.

While no deadline has been set for the committee to submit its report, the notification issued by the government on Friday has directed it to submit the report "urgently".

The government had earlier initiated moves to set up a new University of Agricultural Sciences in Mandya and was reportedly keen to announce the proposal in the State Budget. However, the proposal had drawn criticism from academicians and experts who had expressed concern that it would affect the future of both the new as well as the existing one, as the new university would have to be carved out from UAS-Bengaluru.

Experts had observed that both would become too small in terms of geographical jurisdiction and students' strength, which would not only increase the overhead costs, but also make it non-feasible in terms of scale of operations.

15 fishermen arrested by Lankan Navy

The Hindu Bureau
KARAIKAL/CHENNAI

The Sri Lankan Navy arrested 15 fishermen from Karaikal in Puducherry and Nagapattinam in Tamil Nadu and seized their boat on Friday.

Twelve of those arrested are from Karaikal and three from Nagapattinam. The fishermen had put out to sea from the Karaikal harbour on Thursday. The Sri Lankan Navy arrested them on charges of trespassing into the island nation's waters. On March 10, the Sri Lankan Navy had arrested 15 fishermen, including two from Karaikal and 13 from Nagapattinam. Seven fishermen from Pudukkottai district were also arrested on the same day. In January, 18 fishermen were arrested, and in February, 19 and 23 fishermen were arrested in two separate incidents. Those arrested on Friday were taken to the Kankesanthurai harbour and handed over to the Mailadi fisheries inspector for legal proceedings. Sources in the Fisheries Department said that the boat, bearing the registration number IND-PY-PK-MM-1337 and belonging to M. Jeyamathi, was seized.

Meanwhile, Chief Minister M.K. Stalin wrote to the Union government requesting it to take steps to convene the Joint Working Group to secure the release of all the fishermen and their boats.

It was important to resolve the "festering issue" through diplomatic channels, Mr. Stalin said in his letter to External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar.

ED arrests BRS MLC Kavitha in Delhi excise policy case

Agency probing her involvement in 'South Group', which allegedly played a key role in liquor policy scam; ED and Income Tax officials had searched her house before arresting her

HYDERABAD

In a dramatic development that stretched through the day, the Enforcement Directorate officials arrested Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) Member of the Legislative Council (MLC) Kalvakuntla Kavitha in the alleged Delhi Liquor Policy scam case. She has been arrested under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act.

"In exercise of the power conferred upon me under sub-section (1) of Section 19 of the PMLA, 2002 (915 of 2003), I hereby arrest Kalvakuntla Kavitha at 5.20 p.m. and she has been informed of the grounds for arrest. A copy of the grounds for her arrest has been served upon her," read a release by the ED official.

Earlier, around noon on Friday, three vehicles of ED and Income Tax officials reached the residence of Ms. Kavitha in Banjara Hills. The officials cordoned off her house, barred her staff from interacting with her, they seized their phones during the time the searches were carried out, according to sources.

The ED is probing the allegation of Ms. Kavitha's involvement in the 'South Group', which played a key role in the Delhi Liquor Policy scam that provided an exceptionally high profit margin both for wholesalers and retailers.

The ED alleged that Hyderabad-based liquor businessman and co-accused Arun Ramchandra Pillai had represented the interests of Ms. Kavitha. He along with another accused, Abhishek Boinpally, and chartered accountant Butchibabu Gorantla fronted for the 'South Group' that was favoured under the excise policy.

The ED alleges that Mr. Pillai had a 32.5% stake in Indo Spirits, which had got a wholesale liquor licence.

Modi kicks off LS poll campaign in Kerala, says lotus will bloom in State

The Hindu Bureau
PATHANAMTHITTA

Kicking off the National Democratic Alliance's (NDA) Lok Sabha election campaign in the State, Prime Minister Narendra Modi here on Friday expressed confidence that "the lotus is going to bloom in Kerala in this election."

He urged the voters to break the cycle of the Left Democratic Front (LDF) and the United Democratic Front (UDF) forming governments to "save Kerala from its current slide".

Narendra Modi. ANI

Addressing a public event in Pathanamthitta, Mr. Modi said: "The BJP, which won a two-digit vote percentage here last time, will open its account in the State," he said.

"When the BJP government comes to power, it is going to need MPs in Kerala who will take your needs to the government, and this, in turn, will be helpful in bringing development to the State."

"Modi will never turn a blind eye towards your needs. That's Modi's guarantee," he said.

He accused the LDF and the UDF of unleashing a reign of terror and violence in the State. "Things in this State have come to such a pass that even the priest of a church was subjected to violence. Several college campuses have become hotspots of communist violence. Women and children are living in constant fear, but the government in power appears to be sleeping," he said.

Mr. Modi accused successive governments in the State of turning a blind eye to the plight of rubber growers.

In T.N., Modi lashes out at DMK, Congress

C. Palanivel Rajan
KANNIYAKUMARI

BJP leader and Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday said that the INDIA bloc, comprising parties such as the DMK and the Congress, would never succeed in developing Tamil Nadu. "Their history is that of scams, and their policies are focused on coming to power to loot the public," he said, at a public meeting in Kanniyakumari district.

Mr. Modi said that he was expecting to see a huge transformation in the State.

"I am confident that the performance of the BJP in Tamil Nadu will break the arrogance of the INDIA bloc," he said.

Akin to the BJP's 'Ekta (unity) Yatra' from Kanniyakumari to Kashmir in 1991, this time, the route for the 'Viksit Bharat Sankalp Yatra' is from Kashmir to Kanniyakumari, he said. "Just as the people of Jammu and Kashmir rejected the party who dreamt of breaking the nation apart, the people of Tamil Nadu will also do the same," he said.

Grand reception: Prime Minister Narendra Modi at a public meeting in Kanniyakumari on Friday. N. RAJESH

Listing various infrastructure projects undertaken by the Centre such as the Kanniyakumari-Thiruvananthapuram four-lane road; the Marthandam-Parvathipuram flyover; and the Narikulam bridge, he said that past governments had kept these projects on hold for years, citing various reasons.

On the one hand, there were the BJP's welfare schemes, and on the other, there were the "DMK government's scams and more scams", he alleged. Taking pride in the consecration of the Ram temple in Ayodhya, Mr. Modi said that he had visited several important temples in Tamil Nadu before the event.

However, the DMK government had attempted to stop the people from viewing the ceremony, for which it was criticised by the Supreme Court, he said. This made it clear that the DMK government was the enemy not only of the State's future but also of its past and heritage, he said.

"The DMK government does not have respect for our culture, tradition and our history," he claimed, adding, "The DMK even boycotted the 'Sengol', which was placed in the new Parliament building."

"As long as I am here, I will protect the culture of Tamil Nadu," Mr. Modi said.

The Prime Minister accused the INDIA bloc of playing with people's lives. "But unlike them, I was not sleeping when Tamil Nadu fishermen were arrested by Sri Lanka and given prison sentences," he said.

Diplomatic steps

Recalling various diplomatic steps he took to ensure the fishermen's release, he said that he went all out to protect them and bring them back alive.

The BJP, he said, always stood for the welfare of women. The DMK government only knew how to play politics in the name of women, he claimed.

"I am deeply saddened to not have had an opportunity to learn Tamil. But as a solution to this, I will be speaking to Tamil people in their language through the 'Namo in Tamil' handle on the social media platform X, with the help of AI," he said.

Pet entrepreneurs unhappy over ban on ferocious dog breeds

Mithosh Joseph
KOZHIKODE

The ban imposed by the Union government on the import, sale and breeding of 23 specific dog breeds, including the popular Rottweiler, Cane Corso, Akita, Bulldog, and Pitbull, has left more than 100 passionate entrepreneurs in the sector from north Kerala districts high and dry.

Since no adoption is permitted now under the new rule, breeders are forced to keep all unsold puppies with them. Medical and food expenses will be an additional burden for small-scale breeders in the days to come with plummeting adoption requests.

The bulldog is one of the breeds on the ban list.

"Apart from breeding, entrepreneurs like me are making a living by training a large number of foreign breeds in Kozhikode and neighbouring districts. We also attend dog shows with such breeds as it has been an attraction here for several decades," said P. Vysakh, a dog breeder and trainer in Kozhikode.

Though some leading breeders in the State have initiated measures to legally challenge the government's order, the majority is still clueless about the future of their pet ventures. The fate of puppies now available in large numbers with prominent dealers remains unpredictable as chances are high for abandoning them, thanks to the out-of-the-blue situation.

Fluoride level in groundwater is above permissible limit in three districts, says Kerala government report

G. Krishnakumar
KOCHI

Fluoride contamination has been detected beyond permissible limits in nine areas in Palakkad, Malappuram and Alappuzha districts, according to the State Environment Department.

The contamination has been detected in Muthalamada, Pallassena, Agali, Sholayur, Koppannu and Vattalakki (Palakkad); Komalapuram-1 and Pazhaveedu (Alappuzha); and Manjeri (Malappuram).

The source of contamination is probably geogenic in nature, which means these constituents are already present in the rock or soil matrix and get into the groundwater through various chemical processes, according to a report dated February 16, 2024, filed by the department before the Principal Bench of the National Green Tribunal (NGT), New Delhi.

The government said it plans to conduct spatial analysis studies in affected areas.

It was given to illustrate the current status of Kerala with regard to the case pending before the Bench based on a report by the Union Ministry of Jal Shakti which stated in December 2023 that arsenic has been detected in groundwater in parts of 230 districts in 25 States and fluoride in 469 districts in 27 States.

The maximum permissible limit of arsenic in groundwater meant for drinking is 0.01 mg/l, while the corresponding limit of fluoride is 1.0 mg/l.

Follow-up study

The Environment Department had asked the Central Ground Water Board (CGWB), the State Groundwater Department, the Centre for Water Resources Development and Management (CWRDM), and Kerala State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) to submit a report based on the findings of the Ministry. The study by the CWRDM, which focused on Palakkad district, found that Sholayur panchayat was grossly contaminated with fluoride. The CGWB reported fluoride content at Manjeri (Malappuram); Koppanur and Vattalakki (Palakkad); and Pazhaveedu in Alappuzha. The KSPCB found arsenic beyond permissible limits in a well at Kureepuzha, Kollam.

The report submitted before the NGT said the government plans to conduct spatial analysis studies in the affected areas. The State Groundwater Department will initiate remedial measures such as setting up rainwater harvesting facilities, and reverse osmosis plants.

Food factor

Inflation is impacting personal consumption and hurting growth

The latest retail inflation data, yet again, underscores how volatile food prices continue to hold hostage not only broader inflation but also the lynchpin of economic growth, namely, personal consumption. While February's headline Consumer Price Index (CPI)-based reading remained virtually unchanged from the preceding month, at 5.09%, the pace of food price gains computed from the Consumer Food Price Index accelerated by 36 basis points to 8.66%. Vegetable prices continued to remain the biggest concern, with the third-heaviest food category in the food and beverages sub group of the CPI registering 30.3% inflation year-on-year, a disconcerting 315 basis points acceleration from January's reading. And inflation in cereals, the largest weight among foods in the CPI, also remained high at 7.6%, just marginally slower than the preceding month's 7.83% pace. Among vegetables, the potato-onion-tomato triumvirate, which is the most-widely consumed group nationwide and constitutes more than a third of the weight in the category, led the charge. Potato prices moved from an almost 2% year-on-year deflation in January to a 12.4% inflation, onion logged 22.1% inflation and tomato's price gains quickened by close to 400 basis points to a six-month high of 42%. A look at the Department of Consumer Affairs' daily price monitoring dashboard shows little respite on this front, with average retail prices of potato, onion and tomato reigning 21.3%, 41.4% and 35.2% higher, respectively, as on March 14 from a year earlier.

Clearly, the government's supply side measures, including a three-month-old ban on export of onions, has had little impact on cooling prices of these politically sensitive food inputs. And the outlook too is far from reassuring. Onion output in the 2023-24 horticulture crop year is seen more than 15.6% lower than last year and production of potato is projected to log an almost 2% deficit as in the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare's First Advance Estimates released on March 7. The water storage data from the Central Water Commission, showing live storage at 150 reservoirs across the country as on March 14 at 40% of capacity, and trailing both the 10-year average and the year-earlier levels, also does not portend well for summer-sown crops. This is particularly so in the southern region, where the storage deficit compared with the 10-year average is a most acute 29%. Reserve Bank of India Deputy Governor Michael Patra aptly summed up the risks to the economy from persistently high food inflation in his statement to the Monetary Policy Committee last month when he observed: "private consumption, which accounts for 57% of GDP, is languishing under the strain of still elevated food inflation. This is particularly telling in rural areas. Inflation has to be restrained to its target for growth to be inclusive and sustained." Policymakers have their task cut out if the economy is to avoid a summer of discontent as the country heads to the polls.

Homecoming

A.P. is set for a three-cornered contest after the TDP's return to the NDA

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) pulled off a major tactical victory in Andhra Pradesh as it welcomed back an estranged ally, the Telugu Desam Party (TDP) and a former Convenor of the ruling National Democratic Alliance (NDA) in New Delhi and former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N. Chandrababu Naidu. With a vote share of only 0.84% in the Assembly election in 2019, the BJP was all but written off in the State. It was perceived as the party that reneged on its promise to extend the Special Category Status (SCS) by another five years. While many viewed the TDP's exit from the NDA just months ahead of the 2019 elections as too little too late, given the widespread discontent against the alliance for 'betraying' the State, the TDP managed to poll almost 40% of the votes, despite contesting on its own, but won only 23 of the 175 seats in the Assembly. While actor-turned politician Pawan Kalyan's Jana Sena Party (JSP) garnered around 6%, winning one seat, the BJP, that contested on its own in 173 of the 175 seats, drew a blank. The five-cornered contest gave the Yuvajana Sramika Rythu Congress Party, and its leader Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy an impressive 50% vote share and a brute majority of 151 seats in the Assembly.

While the exit of Y.S. Sharmila from the YSRCP – she is Mr. Jagan Mohan Reddy's younger sister – has given the Congress a lifeline in the State, and has become the Chief Minister's Achilles heel, the TDP remains the main opposition. The pre-dawn arrest of Mr. Naidu by Andhra's Crime Investigation Department on September 9, 2023, over corruption allegations in the Andhra Pradesh State Skill Development Corporation case has won the 73-year-old, three-time former Chief Minister considerable sympathy among the State's people. It remains to be seen if the anti-Jagan votes will be split between the Congress-led United Progressive Alliance and the NDA, possibly delivering a win for YSRCP, or if there could be considerable shift in the incumbent's vote base (minorities, Dalits and Backward Castes, who might view Ms. Sharmila as a bearer of the YSR legacy) and give the TDP the advantage in a three-cornered contest.

It's 'Ra-Ra-Ras-Putin' in the Russian election

The Russian presidential election (March 15-17, 2024) is the country's eighth presidential election since the dissolution of the USSR. Vladimir Putin is contesting for a fifth term, also the first time after the 2020 constitutional amendment nullifying his previous terms. He was first elected in 2000 and then re-elected in 2004, 2012 and 2018, with a brief interlude from 2008-2012 when he was the Prime Minister, making his trusted man Dmitry Medvedev the President. Mr. Putin remained the de facto ruler, and it was to avoid the constitutional requirement that forbade the sitting President to seek a third consecutive term.

No serious opponent, the future

In this election, the outcome of which is a foregone conclusion, given that there is no serious contender in the foray, he will be in power for the next six years. He can be re-elected in 2030 and technically remain in power until 2036. Mr. Putin will contest as an independent candidate in 2024. The other three contenders, Nikolai Kharitonov (in his 70s) of the Russian Communist Party, Leonid Slutsky (in his 50s) of the nationalist Liberal Democratic Party of Russia, and Vladislav Davankov (40) of the New People Party, are also in the race. Mr. Kharitonov was a distant second in the 2004 election. All three candidates are considered to be very close to Mr. Putin and have been supportive of the Kremlin's policies, which includes the invasion of Ukraine. In a way, they are puppets in the well-orchestrated drama of the Russian presidential election.

The only serious opposition presidential candidate, Boris Nadezhdin, a critic of the Russian war with Ukraine, was debarred by the Central Election Commission of the Russian Federation. Speaking to CBC News, Mr. Nadezhdin said, "Elections in Russia now are not fair and not free, but I don't know another way to challenge the politics and power in Russia." Another most prominent Putin opponent, Alexei Navalny, died in a high-security Arctic penal colony in February 2024, with his supporters alleging that he had been murdered and that Mr. Putin was behind it. Predictably, the Kremlin refuted this allegation and, interestingly, did not explain what led to Navalny's death.

Then what is the rationale behind such an exercise? What does it say about the Russian political system and political culture? And how will it impact Russian foreign policy, Europe in particular and world politics in general? Abbas Gallyamov, a political scientist and former speech writer for Mr. Putin, has described the election as where "multiple choice is replaced with a simple, dichotomic one: 'Are you for or against Putin?' And has said that it will be a referendum on the issue of the war and a vote for Putin will become a vote for the war." "The current election will not offer even a semblance of competition to Mr[.] Putin, much less give a limited stage to any critical opponent as past elections sometimes did. It will not be an election, but a plebiscite on the loyalty to Putin," says Ms. Masha Lipman, a Russian journalist.

What makes Vladimir Putin tick, in his bid for a fifth term, is his role as arbiter in the political culture of Russia

In a poll by the Levada Centre (it is known for its reliability) in January 2024, it concluded that mass opinions over the Russia-Ukraine war (Russia calls it special military operations) in favour of Russia remain high. For instance, 85% of Russians approved Mr. Putin's actions; there was 77% approval of the military's actions. Despite the approval ratings, war fatigue is setting in, but it is less than what it is in Ukraine. With the progress of the conflict, the goalposts of the war are also shifting. It started as a war against "Nazism" in Ukraine, but has gradually shifted to a war on the West. But the initial goal is touted as the ultimate objective of the war.

Why Putin is still popular

The resilience shown by the Russian economy in the face of sustained western sanctions is credited to Mr. Putin's leadership. Scholars have attributed this success to the "Military Keynesianism" of Mr. Putin. The shot-up demand for military hardware in the face of a war of attrition has spurred the growth of the military-industrial complex. This has led to increased military contracts and import substitution in response to sanctions. This has also created a demand for skilled labourers and a support base that has benefited from the war.

The Ukraine war is projected as a western plan to weaken Russia and impose western cultural hegemony over it. Historically, Russia has projected itself as a fortress of liberal-conservative values that trace their origin to the Russian orthodox church. The idea of "Moscow-Third Rome" is one of the Kremlin theological theories and it projected itself as a true representative of conservative Christian values. Liberalism and its value of individualism present a threat to the communitarian and social values of Russia and the preservation of traditional Russian values, being projected as if the West is attacking it.

The common perception that Mr. Putin completely controls the affairs of the Russian state is a half-truth. Mr. Putin is the lynchpin around which Russian politics revolves, but there is the entrenched control of the Russian elites, and Mr. Putin is the arbiter of different interest groups. These interest groups are made of the bureaucracy, the business elite and local political elites, and their complete loyalty towards Mr. Putin is needed to ensure their survival. They are certainly competing for favour, and it is dependent on loyalty towards Mr. Putin. In a way, there are two social contracts – i.e., one between state and citizen and the other between the state and elites.

Russian political culture

One probable reason for Mr. Putin's iron fist-like control over the Kremlin is the political culture of Russia. Russians are invariably described as the enablers of their own autocracy. Western accounts portray supporters of democracy as a small minority in Russia, amidst a majority that is supposed to be inclined to authoritarianism. This attitude relates to the Russian history of autocratic regimes, political culture and the absence of a democratic government. In a counter to this cultural determinism, Russian authoritarianism is described by some scholars as circumstantial, a result of the unfortunate coincidence of Russia's Soviet past, democratic opening with institutional disintegration, economic disruption and political uncertainty. A section of scholars believes that Russians are both authoritarian and democratic at the same time, which Levada dubs as "Russian doublethink". Russian scholar Richard Sakwa has rebutted the historicism of these scholars – the past, like facts, is created in the eyes of the beholder. There are many Russian pasts that reflect its European and Asian identities.

Any monocausal explanation for the current state of the Russian political system flies in the face of a nuanced understanding of Russia. As Churchill famously said about Russia, in 1939, it is a "riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside an enigma". This is a statement that still holds true, signifying Russia as the intimate 'other' of the West. It amalgamates many elements, some rooted in Russia's culture, history, and precarious geopolitical position. Political leadership does have an important place in all this. Doomsday prophecies of western scholars should be taken with a pinch of salt. The resilience shown by the Russian state in the face of heavy-handed economic sanctions and the efforts on the part of the West to isolate Moscow give Russia a prominent place on the world stage. Russia's efforts to galvanise the support of anti-western countries and expose the double standards of the West seem to be successful.

Looking to the future on St. Patrick's Day

Kevin Kelly

is the Ambassador of Ireland to India

St. Patrick's Day 2024 in India is especially important. This year we celebrate 75 years of diplomatic relations between Ireland and India. We remember the proud history of Ireland's partnership with India in the struggle we both went through for freedom from colonial oppression. We remember the conversations, exchanges and meetings that took place between our founding fathers and mothers as both countries charted a path towards independence and the creation of proud and modern republics. And, we celebrate the links that have only grown since then, in trade, education and in people-to-people connections.

We realise that, in Ireland, we are fortunate to have a National Day that almost everyone knows. St. Patrick's Day is an opportunity to celebrate Ireland with the more than 70 million people globally who claim Irish ancestry and the many more who show their fondness for Ireland in any number of ways.

Stand on conflicts

And yet, even the notion of "celebrating" in our world today provokes doubt and hesitation for many people, and for good reason. We have witnessed more than two years of unprovoked Russian brutality in Ukraine. The appalling attack by Hamas on Israel on October 7 last year was stark in its depravity. The killing of tens of thousands of innocent civilians in Gaza in the period since has also been viewed with horror around the world.

Ireland has a clear and principled position on these conflicts. We have demanded accountability, internationally, for Russia's illegal invasion and we are one of the strongest supporters of Ukraine's path to European Union membership. We condemned outright Hamas's terrorist attack in October and we have called at every juncture for all hostages in Gaza to be released unconditionally.

We have also strongly argued, since the early weeks of the conflict, for an upholding of international humanitarian law, a humanitarian ceasefire and for sustained humanitarian assistance to be provided for the over two million desperate civilians in Gaza. Protecting civilians in conflict – all civilians, everywhere – is our highest priority.

A foundation of 75 years of diplomatic relations apart, Ireland and India can build an even more enduring partnership by tapping young talent

Ireland's own history includes experiences of famine, poverty and forced migration. Even the relative growth and prosperity we have enjoyed since joining the European Union in 1973 co-existed, at least until the 1990s, with conflict very close to home in Northern Ireland. These experiences have, to an obvious degree, shaped how we view the world around us today. And yet, whatever resilience or empathy these experiences can engender within us – even that sense of eventually making our way through the most difficult of times – can be tested for all of us when we read or scroll through news of our world in 2024.

A young talent pool

And so, it should be no surprise that we look to young people. Young people have been to the fore in opening our eyes to the climate emergency and to the innovative solutions that can reduce our dependence on fossil fuels and deliver a clean energy future. Young people globally have demanded respect for international law and for multilateral institutions, and for key actors such as the United Nations Security Council to speak and act coherently in support of a rules-based order, sustainable development and human rights.

Indeed, it was these priorities that Ireland sought to emphasise in our own most recent term on the Council over 2021-22. During our tenure we sat alongside India and we sought to take a strong and principled stance on the burning issues of the day.

Young people are at the heart of what makes Ireland a great place to invest, trade, visit and study too. Ireland is home for all five of the world's top software companies and 14 of the top 15 medical technology companies globally. Those companies, and very many others, have put down roots in Ireland because of our economic track record, stability, ease of doing business and access to a European Union market of 450 million people. But they are also in Ireland because of our talent pool, with brilliant globally-connected young people from across the European Union, who are a key part of our dynamic workforce. Ireland is a country where enterprise is valued and young entrepreneurs are supported to bring their products and ideas to international markets. And many of those ideas have blossomed in a world-class Irish university system that attracts thousands of students from around the world because of the safe, welcoming and culturally rich environment on offer in Ireland for young people.

Ireland, like every country, faces plenty of domestic and international challenges on an ongoing basis. But we also recognise how fortunate we are to feature in the top 10 countries in the UN's Human Development Index in recent years and the obligation this places on us as global citizens to be a voice for progress, for peace, for human dignity and for equality for all.

The Indian link

We hope that this is the experience of the almost 10,000 young Indian boys and girls who go to study in Irish universities every year. And we also trust that the over 80,000 Indians who now live in Ireland feel at home in the Emerald Isle. We certainly appreciate the great contribution they are making to Irish society as leaders in IT, health care and a number of key sectors. They breathe lifeblood into the bilateral relationship of today, as much as our Irish and Indian freedom fighters provided the soul of our partnership in the past.

There is an old Irish saying, "Ar scáth a chéile a mhaireannn na Daoine (We live in each other's shadow"). This will remain true for our young people in the world of the years to come. Protecting and supporting each other, and building enduring partnerships, has never been more vital. It is our focus too this St. Patrick's Day (March 17).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Poll bonds

The corruption among the Opposition parties has almost lost its shock value, thanks to the persistent efforts by investigative agencies and the media in the past decade. In contrast, the ruling party has maintained a clean and corruption-free image almost throughout its tenure. This situation is likely to change with the arrival of the much-awaited "electoral bonds data". As the top recipient of funds (Page 1, "Poll bonds: 22 firms donated over ₹100 cr., BJP got highest share", March 15) and the inventor of this innovative 'scheme', the BJP cannot get away from its responsibility of offering a rational explanation for how and why it got so much. The media must be unbiased so that voters can make an informed choice.

A. Venkatasubramanian,
Tiruchi, Tamil Nadu

The good aspect is that the bonds are through a proper banking channel and accounted for. The BJP has been the ruling party not only in the Centre but also in several States for the past 10 years. So, there is nothing unusual in the party getting the lion's share of the bonds redeemed. It is very intriguing to note that regional political parties in power in only one State have also received substantial donations.

It is quite interesting to note that none of the prominent corporates in the country is involved.

S. Parthasarathy,
Chennai

The data released by the Election Commission of India, though incomplete, make for some startling revelations, as discovered by data miners. Some of the top 30 donors had been under investigation in the past. Is there any nexus between these probes and the donations made?

Simultaneous polls report

The official report on 'one nation one poll' has not surprised many. It ties in with the line of the ruling party, the BJP, in declaring that simultaneous polls are 'good for the health of democracy'. The cause of uninterrupted governance and less expensive polls are said to be the central themes in support of this idea. But these are not convincing. States and local governance would lose more with such a system. The election process needs to be pried free from money power. Maladies in electoral practices cannot be wished away by piece-meal reforms. They need to be addressed comprehensively.

Two days after the child went missing, and the police had made no headway in their investigation, the girl's parents and relatives launched a protest. On March 5, the agitation began to snowball and cadres of the Opposition parties joined the protesters. Some protesters at the promenade in Puducherry. SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

The crime that enraged Puducherry

On March 2, a nine-year-old child, who had gone out to play, went missing from her neighbourhood in the Union Territory. Three days later, her body was found in a drain. Rajesh B. Nair reports on the crime that brought the residents of the city to the streets, and the agony of the family who knew the accused

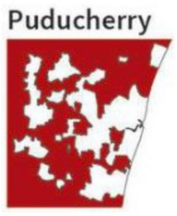
Trigger warning: the following article has references to rape. Please avoid reading if you feel distressed by the subject

By all accounts, Nithya (name changed to protect identity), 9, was a cheerful child. She studied at a primary school in Puducherry, a coastal city in the Union Territory of the same name, bordering Tamil Nadu in the south. Her father says she enjoyed playing sports and the freedom of walking or cycling along the narrow lanes of her neighbourhood, located at one end of Beach Road, where houses are densely packed together. She would buy biscuits or sweets from small shops. Like many children her age, she was curious.

On March 2, Nithya went out to play. She should have been gone only a short while, but she did not return. Her sister, 11, was the last to see her. Her parents filed a missing complaint.

Two days later, when the police found no leads, her parents hit the streets, along with relatives and residents of the neighbourhood, in protest. They staged a blockade on the arterial Mahatma Gandhi Road, demanding that the police make more of an effort in tracing the child. The protesters dispersed only when the police assured them that they would intensify their search and find the girl soon.

Puducherry



When yet another day passed without any signs of progress in the investigation, the agitation began to snowball. Campaigns seeking justice for the girl began trending on Facebook and X (formerly Twitter). Cadres of Opposition parties, including the Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam, the Congress, the Left parties, the Viduthalai Chiruthaigal Katchi, and the All-India Anna Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam, joined the protesters on the morning of March 5. Lieutenant Governor Tamilisai Soundararajan and Home Minister A. Namassivayam, who belongs to the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), held meetings with senior police officers to review progress in the case.

The same afternoon, the child's body, with her hands and feet tied, was found in a drain a few metres from her house. The discovery came as a shock to the city. S. Sundhari, a resident of Nithya's neighbourhood, says, "We have heard that such atrocities happen to girls in different parts of India. But we never thought it would happen to a child in our locality."

However, according to data furnished by the Puducherry police, the Union Territory with a population of nearly 14 lakh people recorded 164 cases pertaining to crimes against women last year. Of these, 92 cases were registered under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012; 30 on charges of molestation; and nine on charges of rape.

The day the body was found, the police held two men from Nithya's neighbourhood on charges of kidnapping and murder. The victim's family says they knew the accused. Namassivayam announced that a Special Investigation Team had been constituted under Senior Superintendent of Police Kalaivanan to probe whether more people were involved in the case. Earlier, this week, the post-mortem report revealed that the child had also been raped.

> Karnas even used to buy sweets and ice-cream whenever he saw my child. I had no idea that he had such a beast in him.
> Father of the victim

"Everyone here knows one another," says Sundhari. "Usually, we tell our children to be cautious while mingling with strangers. Now, it is scary that we have to teach them to be wary of people known to them too."

The day she disappeared

On March 2, at 8 a.m., Nithya's parents left her at home with her sister and went to work. Nithya's mother works at a health centre as a help and her father owns a mini truck which he drives mainly to transport fish from the harbour to various markets. It was Saturday, a non-working day for primary schools. The parents routinely left their daughters at home except on Sundays, when the mother would take the day off.

The police say Nithya stepped out to play soon after. She returned home to eat lunch before leaving the house again. At around 5 p.m., Nithya's mother came home and only found her older daughter. When there was no sign of Nithya for some time, she went around the locality in search of her, gripped by dread. She went with a few relatives to the police station and lodged a complaint. She then called her husband to inform him that their daughter was missing.

"I came home immediately," Nithya's father recalls. "We searched all the areas near our house. Soon, it was night. We thought she may have been kidnapped as there have been reports of child kidnapping cases in recent times."

After registering a case of kidnapping, the police and the girl's relatives combed through the entire area. They navigated their way first through the narrow lanes and then the wider adjacent ones, marked by posh houses, large guest houses, and hanging bougainvillea. They went to the beach, searching for her near stalls and amid the slippery rocks withstanding the force of the waves. The CCTV footage from the area also did not show any signs of Nithya.

"We initially restricted the search to the child's residential area, but there was opposition from the relatives. They strongly believed that the girl had been abducted and taken elsewhere. So, we extended our search beyond Puducherry," says a police officer, who was part of the initial investigation.

Protests erupted after the child went missing and there was no immediate headway in the case. Three days after her disappearance, the police found her body. S.S. KUMAR

Three days after the search, the police finally found the partly decomposed body of the child in a drain. The injuries on her body indicated that she had met a brutal end.

Men known to her

During the days between the time Nithya went missing and her body was found, the police came under some flak. Residents in the neighbourhood felt that the response to the missing complaint had been lukewarm. They wanted the police to cast the net wider, but the investigators seemed keen on searching the neighbourhood first.

Under pressure, the police intensified their investigation and picked up some suspects for questioning. One of them was Kakka alias Karnas, 19, a school dropout. Karnas lives with his mother and siblings some 50 metres from Nithya's house.

When he was interrogated, the police say Karnas admitted that he had taken the child to the house of Harikrishnan alias Viveganandan, 56, a dairy farmer, when she was playing. Viveganandan, too, lives a stone's throw away from her house. "He used to give Karnas money to buy alcohol and cannabis," says a neighbour. "Karnas would often go to his house to party."

The accused confessed that they raped and smothered the child to death. They dumped her body in the drain behind Vivaganandhan's house, say the police. The confession was corroborated by medical evidence. The post-mortem was conducted at the Jawaharlal Institute of Postgraduate Medical Education and Research.

Based on these statements, the police arrested Karnas and Viveganandan under Section 6(1) of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012; the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989; and under several sections of the Indian Penal Code including 363 (punishment for kidnapping), 342 (punishment for wrongful confinement), and 302 (punishment for murder). The two men have been remanded to judicial custody and lodged in separate cells at the Central Prison in Kalapet, around 15 kilometres from Puducherry town.

While Karnas stayed put in the locality after allegedly committing the crime, Viveganandhan left for Kottakuppam in Villipuram district, about 2 km away. They police say he, too, knew the child. Neither of these men had a criminal past, but both of them were known to get into trouble. Neighbours say Viveganandan was once beaten up by the residents for his "inappropriate behaviour with women." They allege that his wife left him because she was disgusted with his attitude towards women. Karnas, they say, used to fight with his mother for money after getting drunk. He would also smoke cannabis and get into brawls with the residents of the locality.

Nithya's father recalls seeing the two accused spend their evenings at the same place where his daughter's body was recovered. "I have seen Karnas and his friends smoking ganja near the drain. Sometimes, Viveganandan would join them. We warned them several times not to smoke and drink in public places," he says.

While political parties and residents link the crime to substance abuse, the police say there is no evidence. "We can't say the murder is directly linked to drug addiction and alcoholism. But when Karnas was arrested, he was high. It took him hours to get sober," says a police officer.

The Director General of Police, B. Srinivas, says the police are making efforts to prevent the sale of drugs. So far, they have focussed on cracking down on the supply chain and on sources from other States. There is no organised drug cartel operating from Puducherry, he adds.

"Drug addiction is a social menace which has to be prevented through awareness. While strong enforcement is the responsibility of the police, it is also necessary that various sections of society and government departments come together to create awareness," he adds, in officialese.

Srinivas says the police will file the charge sheet in 5-6 weeks. The government has also decided to approach the district court to fast-track the trial once the charge sheet is submitted.

Former Lieutenant Governor of Puducherry Kiran Bedi believes that the Puducherry government should not allow more liquor outlets and should reduce its dependence on revenue from liquor. "There is also need for better rehabilitation centres, including in prisons," she says.

Educating the child

Following the incident, the people of Puducherry have questioned the effectiveness of policing, especially the weakness of the 'beat system'. Under this system, every constable is assigned an area and is mandated to frequently visit it to learn about the issues that the people face.

"In recent times, we have seen a weakening of the beat system. We don't see anyone patrolling these areas. Senior officers do not conduct field visits. If senior officers did that, inspectors and the constabulary would be on their toes," says Raghu Chandran, a resident.

But Assistant Professor of Criminology at Rashtriya Raksha University, Puducherry Campus, Shivalaxmi Arumugham, says this is not a viable solution. "Although the police do instil fear among the people, we cannot have them around at all times. Community or public vigilance is also important. And any suspicious activity should be reported immediately," she says.

Her colleague, Nethaji Subash, adds that only a collaborative exercise will enhance public safety.

"It will also lead to a better relationship between the police and community," he says. "Regular meetings between the police and the residents would help create awareness about crimes and also help people identify potential offenders."

Arumugham adds that it is important for people to know that those who abuse children are often known to them. "These offenders are often from the family or the neighbourhood. Educating children is important. They should know that they can report anything that makes them uncomfortable. Education is also important for parents. If they see behavioural changes in their child, they should speak to the child. This way, we can prevent atrocities," she says.

In any society, children should be able to play outside or roam around without fear, says child rights activist Vidyaa Ramkumar. "It is the child's right to play or roam around alone or with friends in the neighbourhood. This is important for the child's development. But adult supervision is definitely required," she says.

Before Nithya was cremated, Chief Minister N. Rangasamy announced a compensation of ₹20 lakh to the family. Representatives of the National Commission for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes visited them with a cheque of ₹7.12 lakh. A delegation of the BJP, led by party in-charge for the Union Territory, Nirmal Kumar Surana, went to the victim's house on March 14 and gave the family compensation of ₹5 lakh.

Money cannot take away from the family's grief, though. Nithya's father recalls how he saw Karnas even when he was searching for his daughter on March 2. "He was near my house," he says, shaking with anger. "He even used to buy sweets and ice-cream whenever he saw my child. I had no idea that he had such a beast in him."

SC asks why SBI didn't give all poll bond details

The Commission said that it had handed over to the Supreme Court a sealed cover containing 106 sealed envelopes, and then sealed boxes containing 523 sealed envelopes, in two tranches in pursuance of the judicial orders of April 2019 and November 2023.

"We presumed you would have retained copies," Chief Justice Chandrachud told advocate Amit Sharma, appearing for the ECI.

Scan and digitise copies: SC

The court ordered its Registry to scan and digitise copies of the documents in the course of the day and finish the work by Saturday.

The originals will be returned to the ECI along with a digitised copy. The ready availability of a digitised copy, provided by the Supreme Court itself, will help avert any delay in the publication of these documents on electoral bonds.

Court asked for complete details

The court, in its February 15 judgment, had required the SBI to provide the ECI with the complete details, including dates of purchase; the names of the purchasers; and the denominations of the bonds purchased; along with the details of bonds redeemed by political parties, including their dates of encashment and denominations.

The SBI had said that 22,217 electoral bonds were purchased and 22,030 were redeemed by political parties between April 1, 2019 and February 15, 2024.

New ECs take charge; no stay on appointments

The petitioners argued that this law had been enacted to get the better of a March 2023 Supreme Court judgment in the Anoop Baranwal case, which had called for a fair and transparent appointments' mechanism, with the participation of the Chief Justice of India as a member of the selection committee.

Opposition leader a figurehead

The petitioners argued that even this new law, which rolled the dice heavily in favour of the Union government, was violated when the "minority" member of the selection committee and leader of the largest Opposition party, Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury of the Congress, found himself reduced to the status of a figurehead by a majority vote on March 14.

Mr. Chowdhury was given 212 names of candidates only a day prior to the selection committee meeting. He had told the media that he was provided the names of shortlisted candidates only 10 minutes prior to the appointment.

This was a violation of Section 6 of the 2023 Act, which required the selection panel members to be given ample opportunity to make a considered decision regarding the candidates.

Veteran bureaucrats

Mr. Kumar and Mr. Sandhu were appointed following vacancies created by the sudden resignation of Election Commissioner Arun Goel on March 9, and the retirement of Election Commissioner Anup Chandra Pandey on February 15.

Mr. Kumar, a Kerala-cadre IAS officer, superannuated as the Cooperation Secretary and oversaw the abrogation of Article 370 in Jammu and Kashmir during his tenure in the Union Home Ministry. He also played a key role in setting up the Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust and had also been the Parliamentary Affairs Secretary.

Mr. Sandhu served as Uttarakhand Chief Secretary during Pushkar Singh Dhami's tenure as the Chief Minister. Earlier, he had served as the Chairman of the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI).

SC to hear pleas seeking stay on CAA, its rules on March 19

IUML is the primary petitioner in the lead case, which has 237 separate petitions challenging the legislation's legality on grounds that it discriminates in granting citizenship on the basis of religion

Krishnadas Rajagopal
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court agreed to hear on March 19 a slew of petitions to stay the operation of the controversial Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA) and its rules notified earlier this week, which fast-track the grant of Indian citizenship to non-Muslim migrants from Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Pakistan.

"The Act was enacted in 2019. They wait for four-and-a-half years and notify the rules just days ahead of the elections... Once the process of grant of citizenship starts under this Act, it cannot be reversed. Please hear our applications for stay," senior advocate Kapil Sibal urged a three-judge Bench headed by Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud in an oral mentioning of the case on Friday.

Mr. Sibal represents the Indian Union Muslim League (IUML), a political party also represented by advocate Haris Beeran. The IUML is the primary petitioner in the lead case that has 237 separate petitions challenging the legality of CAA on the ground that it discriminates in granting citizenship on the basis of religion. The Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI), represented by advocate Subhash Chandran K.R., has also filed an application seeking an interim stay on the implementation of the law.

'Prerogative of court'

Solicitor-General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Union government, said listing the case early, on March 19, was "absolutely the prerogative of the court".

"However, none of these petitioners have the locus standi to say whether or not the Centre can grant citizenship... That may be kept in mind... Whether it is now the first day or the last day before the elections, the petitioner [represented by Mr. Sibal] need not go into that. This is a constitutional court," Mr. Mehta objected strongly.

The court said all 237 petitions would be listed on March 19.

The IUML has argued that the rules, which govern the actual implementation of the CAA at the ground level, facilitate a highly truncated and fast-tracked process for grant of citizenship to "illegal migrants" belonging to Hindu, Sikh, Buddhist, Jain, Parsi, Christian communities from Afghanistan, Bangladesh or Pakistan who entered into India on or before December 31, 2014.

The rules have done away with the independent and tiered scrutiny of applications of citizenship by District Collectors on the ground, and recommendations of State governments as to the wisdom of granting citizenship to the applicants have been done away with. The Citizenship Rules of 2009 had required the Centre to consult the State governments in the grant of citizenship process.

"The scrutiny of the application for registration or naturalisation was held at three levels – the Collector, the State government and the Central government. It is ultimately the Central government that made the decision to grant citizenship," the application said.

The CAA Rules, 2024 grants the power of scrutiny to a 'District Level Committee' to verify documents and administer the oath of allegiance. An 'Empowered Committee' has been authorised to also scrutinise the citizenship applications, but it is not mandatory. Even the composition of the Empowered Committee is defined in the rules, the IUML has said.

"There is no scope for the State government to give recommendations or for the Central government to conduct an inquiry about the suitability of the applicant," it noted.

Besides, the government ought to have waited for a final decision from the Supreme Court.

India strongly rebuffs U.S. criticism of CAA, calls it 'misinformed'

No grounds for any concern on treatment of minorities, says MEA spokesperson

Kallol Bhattacherjee
NEW DELHI

In a sharp rebuke, India on Friday said the U.S. State Department's criticism of the controversial Citizenship (Amendment) Act is "misinformed and unwarranted".

In a weekly press briefing, Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal argued in support of the inclusive provisions of the Constitution and dismissed any concern regarding the Act, describing it as "laudable".

"The CAA is about giving citizenship, not about taking away citizenship. It addresses the issue of statelessness, provides human dignity, and supports human rights. As regards the U.S. State Department's statement on the implementation of CAA, we are of the view that it is misplaced, misinformed and unwarranted," Mr. Jaiswal said.

Concerns of U.S. govt.

"We are concerned about the notification of the Citizenship Amendment Act on March 11," U.S. State Department spokesperson Matthew Miller told reporters during his daily briefing on Thursday. "We are closely monitoring how this Act will be implemented. Respect for religious freedom and equal treatment under the law for all communities are fundamental democratic principles," Mr. Miller added.

In response, Mr. Jaiswal said: "India's Constitution guarantees freedom of religion to all its citizens. There are no grounds for any concern on treatment of minorities. Vote bank politics should not determine views about a laudable initiative to help those in distress. Lectures by those who have a limited understanding of India's pluralistic traditions and the region's post-Partition history are best not attempted."

The CAA was passed in Parliament on December 11, 2019 and received assent from the President the next day. The law, aimed at granting citizenship to persecuted religious minorities from Pakistan, Bangladesh and Afghanistan except Muslims, was greeted with widespread protests in many parts of India, including in Assam and Delhi.

The law did not come into force during the subsequent four years and two months.

Bihar Cabinet expands as 12 BJP, 9 JD(U) leaders take oath

Amarnath Tewary
PATNA

Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Friday expanded his Cabinet, inducting nine Ministers from the Janata Dal (United) and 12 from the BJP. With this, the strength of the Cabinet has risen to 30, six short of the maximum capacity.

The Cabinet expansion comes 46 days after the new National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government was formed in the State on January 28 as Mr. Kumar severed ties with the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) and returned to the NDA led by the BJP.

After the oath-taking ceremony, all new Ministers said the NDA would win all 40 Lok Sabha seats in the State.

In 2019, the NDA had won 39, while the Congress won the lone Kishanganj seat. In the Cabinet expansion, almost all JD(U) leaders who were earlier Ministers in the Mahagatbandhan government have been repeated, while the BJP has brought in some new faces like Kedar Gupta, Surendra Mehta, and Santosh Kumar Singh.

SP names candidates for 6 U.P. seats, leaves Bhadohi to Trinamool

The Hindu Bureau
LUCKNOW

The Samajwadi Party (SP) on Friday declared six candidates from Uttar Pradesh for the Lok Sabha election. The SP announced the candidature of Yashveer Singh from Bijnor, Bijendra Singh from Aligarh, Manoj Kumar from Nagina, Daroga Saroj from Lalganj, Bhanu Pratap Singh from Meerut, and Jasveer Valmiki from Hathras.

Three reserved seats

Three of the seats – Nagina, Lalganj and Hathras – are reserved for the Scheduled Castes (SC). The SP allocated the Bhadohi seat to the Trinamool Congress. It is likely that Lalitesh Pati Tripathi, a former MLA and grandson of former Chief Minister Kamalapati Tripathi, will contest from the seat.

The SP, by declaring its candidate from Nagina, signalled that it will not enter into any alliance with the Dalit-centric Azad Samaj Party led by Chandrashekhar Azad. Earlier, when Mr. Azad declared his candidature from Nagina, it was believed that the SP will support him directly or indirectly by not putting up a candidate from the seat.

The SP added that the declaration of candidates was done after proper consultation and that the INDIA alliance will register a landslide victory in U.P.

"As far as Nagina [seat] is concerned, the decision of the leadership is in front of you," SP spokesperson Sunil Singh Yadav said.

U.S. probing Adani Group over potential bribery, says report

Reuters
BENGALURU

The United States has widened its investigation of Adani Group to focus on the conduct of its founder, Gautam Adani, and whether the company may have engaged in bribery, Bloomberg News reported on Friday.

Prosecutors are digging into whether an Adani entity or people linked to the company, including Mr. Adani, were involved in paying officials in India for favourable treatment on an energy project, the report said, citing people with direct knowledge of the matter.

The U.S. Attorney's office for the Eastern District of New York and the Justice Department's fraud unit in Washington are handling the investigation and are also looking at Indian renewable energy company Azure Power Global, the report added.

"We are not aware of any investigation against our chairman," Adani Group told Bloomberg News.

Adani Group, Azure Power, and the DOJ did not immediately respond to Reuters' requests for comments. The Attorney's office could not be immediately reached.

Adani Group's stocks and bonds saw a massive selloff early last year after U.S. short-seller Hindenburg Research issued a report that alleged improper governance practices by the group. The Indian firm has denied the allegations.

Many top electoral bond donors were under scanner of ED, I-T Department

Of bonds worth ₹1,368 crore purchased by Future Gaming and Hotel Services PR, 50% were purchased before ED searches and 50% after searches; other firms which followed a similar pattern are Keventer Food Park Infra Ltd., MKJ Enterprises Ltd., and Madanlal Ltd., all registered in Kolkata

Srinivasan Ramani
CHENNAI

An analysis of firms which feature among the top purchasers of electoral bonds throws up many curious patterns. One of the common links is that a significant number of companies in the top donor list were under the scanner of the Enforcement Directorate or the Income Tax (I-T) Department at some point of time in the past five years. In some cases, these companies bought a chunk of the bonds in the days following such searches.

Future Gaming and Hotel Services PR was the largest donor to political parties through the electoral bond route, with a cumulative sum of ₹1,368 crore. In May 2023, the ED carried out searches at the residence of Santiago Martin, a well-known lottery magnate and managing director of the company, in Chennai.

The ED also conducted searches at the business premises of the company in Coimbatore under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). A year earlier, on April 2, 2022, the ED attached movable assets worth ₹410 crore under the PMLA in a case of lottery scam against the company and its subsidiaries. Interestingly, five days later, on April 7, 2022, the company made a significant purchase of electoral bonds worth ₹100 crore, marking one of their largest transactions on a single date. Of the bonds worth ₹1,368 crore purchased by the company, 50% were purchased before the ED searches and 50% after the searches.

Company	ED/I-T searches	Amount and details
Future Gaming and Hotel Services PR	On April 2, 2022, ED attached assets worth ₹410 crore. Five days later, the company purchased bonds worth ₹100 crore	Bonds worth ₹1,368 crore bought in total. Close to 50% of this was purchased after the ED attached the assets
Keventer Food Park Infra Ltd., MKJ Enterprises Ltd., and Madanlal Ltd.	Keventer Agro, a company which shares its email domain with Madanlal and MKJ Enterprises, was searched by the ED in Feb. 2021	Total purchase worth ₹573 crore cumulatively
Yashoda Super Speciality Hospital	Searched by the Income Tax Department in December 2020	Bonds worth ₹162 crore purchased between October 2021 and October 2023
Aurobindo Pharma	Director Sarath Reddy was arrested by the ED on November 10, 2022	Total purchases worth ₹52 crore. Five days after the arrest, the company purchased bonds worth ₹5 crore. A year later, it purchased bonds worth ₹25 crore
Shirdi Sai Electricals Ltd.	On December 18, 2023, I-T searches were conducted	Bonds worth ₹40 crore bought on January 11, 2024
Kalpataru Projects International	I-T searches were conducted in August 2023	Electoral bonds worth ₹25.5 crore bought between April 2023 and October 2023

Same address

The other set of companies which followed a similar pattern are Keventer Food Park Infra Ltd., MKJ Enterprises Ltd., and Madanlal Ltd.

All the three firms are registered with the same address in Kolkata, West Bengal, and have at least one common director.

The common director is Siddharth Gupta, but the three companies were incorporated in different years. MKJ Enterprises was incorporated in 1982, Madanlal in 1983, and Keventer Food Park in 2010. The three companies together donated about ₹573 crore – the third highest – if purchases are considered cumulatively. Of the ₹573 crore, bonds worth ₹195 crore were purchased by Keventer Food Park Infra Ltd. in three batches between April and May 2019. Bonds worth about ₹185 crore were purchased by Madanlal Ltd. between May 8 and 10, 2019.

Stake sale

Keventer Agro, a company which shares its email domain with Madanlal and MKJ Enterprises, ran into controversy following a public interest litigation (PIL) petition filed by West Bengal Congress unit chief Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury after the State government's sale of its stake in Metro Dairy to Keventer Agro in 2017. The West Bengal government divested its 47% shares in Metro Dairy to Keventer Agro Ltd. for ₹85 crore in 2017.

In the same year, a Singapore-based private equity fund picked up 15% shares of Keventer Agro for ₹170 crore. Currently, Mayank Jalan is the managing director of Keventer Agro and also a director of Metro Dairy.

The ED started an investigation into the divestment of the West Bengal government's stake in Metro Dairy in 2019. Summons were issued to several officials of the State government, including H.K. Dwivedi, who was the State's Finance Secretary in 2017, when the shares of Metro Dairy were divested. Summons were issued to State officials, including Mr. Dwivedi, in June 2020 and March 2021. In February 2021, searches were conducted by the ED officials at the office of Keventer Agro Ltd. in Kolkata in connection with the probe.

The investigation lost steam after the Calcutta High Court in June 2022 dismissed the PIL plea filed by Mr. Chowdhury alleging lack of transparency in the divestment. The Supreme Court in September 2022 upheld the Calcutta High Court order.

The Yashoda Super Speciality Hospital Group in Hyderabad, whose premises were searched by the Income Tax Department in December 2020, donated ₹162 crore in multiple tranches beginning October 2021 and ending in October 2023.

Aurobindo Pharma's director Sarath Reddy was arrested by the ED on November 10, 2022 for his alleged involvement in irregularities in the scrapped liquor policy of the Delhi government. Five days after the arrest on November 15, the company purchased bonds worth ₹5 crore. A year later, in November 2023, it purchased bonds worth ₹25 crore. In total, the company purchased electoral bonds worth ₹52 crore in multiple tranches between April 2021 and November 2023, of which ₹30 crore were done after Mr. Reddy's arrest.

On December 18, 2023, I-T searches were conducted on the factory premises of Shirdi Sai Electricals Ltd. at the Industrial Development Area on the outskirts of Kadapa.

Searches were also conducted simultaneously at the Hyderabad office and at residences of its top officials. The company purchased electoral bonds worth ₹40 crore on January 11, 2024. I-T searches were conducted on the premises of real estate development firm Kalpataru Projects International and the residences of some of its directors and executives in August 2023. The company bought electoral bonds worth ₹25.5 crore between April 2023 and October 2023.

Assam CM threatens legal action against Congress MP

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma threatened legal action against Congress MP Pradyut Bordoloi on Friday for alleging that the State government has signed a Memorandum of Understanding with a company that gave donation to the BJP through electoral bonds. "The allegations levelled by Pradyut Bordoloi is devoid of any facts and are entirely baseless," Mr. Sarma posted on X. Earlier, Mr. Bordoloi, the Nagaon MP, reposted a tweet of a person who alleged that the Assam government had signed an MoU with a firm and shared a donors' list, in which the firm's name figured, along with amounts donated to the BJP. Responding to the CM's tweets, Mr. Bordoloi said that he welcomed any such move to prosecute him. He also added that the CM should not forget that the electoral bonds "scam" had been unearthed on the direction of the SC to invite public probity which is integral to democracy. PTI

Pak. agency bought bonds after Pulwama attack: RJD

Senior RJD leader Manoj Jha on Friday alleged that the data on electoral bonds had proved that the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) at the Centre was "the most corrupt political party in the history" of the country. Mr. Jha, the RJD national spokesperson, also claimed that the data flew in the face of the "nationalistic pretensions" of the BJP, while lending credence to the charge that the Central investigating agencies were being misused for political ends. "The data show that shortly after the Pulwama terror attack, a Pakistani agency purchased electoral bonds. So much for the nationalistic pretensions of the BJP, which stands exposed as the most corrupt party in the history of Independent India," Mr. Jha said. The Rajya Sabha MP also pointed out that "a private company was raided by the ED and, a few days later, it ended up purchasing electoral bonds. Anybody can join the dots and make out what the party has been up to". PTI

Modi ran world's biggest extortion racket: Rahul

Abhinay Deshpande
THANE

In a blistering attack on Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the electoral bonds scheme, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday accused Mr. Modi of "running the world's largest extortion racket".

He alleged that the funds amassed through the now-scrapped scheme were used to split political parties like the Shiv Sena and the Nationalist Congress Party in Maharashtra, and to topple Opposition governments.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge demanded a Supreme Court-monitored inquiry, while the party's communications chief Jairam Ramesh alleged that companies which donated to the BJP were granted government contracts in a quid pro quo arrangement.

Interacting with media in Thane at the end of day 62 of his Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, Mr. Gandhi said that the opaque electoral bonds system was designed to benefit the ruling party.

"Now it turns out that this is a way of extorting money from India's largest corporates. A way of stealing money from the biggest contracts in the country, and intimidating corporates and forcing them to give money to the BJP. Electoral bonds is the world's biggest corruption scam and extortion racket run by the Prime Minister of India," he said.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi speaking during the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra in Maharashtra's Palghar district on Friday. PTI

Terming it criminal extortion from corporate India, the Wayanad MP said that he was not making allegations, but stating facts. "Months after a contract is given or days after the CBI or ED raids take place, the companies suddenly start giving electoral bonds to the BJP. Certain companies which never donated money to the BJP, have got cases filed by the ED, CBI, and then the corporates donate money to the party. It's upfront," Mr. Gandhi said.

The Congress leader alleged that the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) had morphed into BJP and RSS entities.

Asked by The Hindu about certain companies which bought electoral bonds and have projects in Congress-ruled Karnataka and Telangana, Mr. Gandhi said, "There is no correlation between the electoral bonds and the contracts given by the Congress or other Opposition parties' governments in States."

In Bengaluru, Mr. Kharge demanded a Supreme Court-monitored special investigation into the electoral bonds scheme through which the ruling BJP has encashed ₹6,065 crore over five years. The BJP's bank accounts must be frozen till the completion of the probe, he added.

While the BJP has received the highest amount in electoral bonds, it was the bank account of the Congress, containing donations received from party workers, which had been frozen, he said, adding that there was "no level playing field".

Mr. Kharge sought an investigation into alleged links between donations made by companies that were either searched by I-T Department and ED officials, or received notices from Central agencies, and the funds received by the BJP.

Mr. Ramesh focused on companies that donated to the BJP after searches by Central investigation agencies, shell companies which made donations, and key missing data about the bonds scheme.

"There are many cases of companies that have donated electoral bonds, and immediately afterwards gotten huge benefits from the government: Megha Engineering & Infra has given over ₹800 crores in EBs. In April 2023, they donated ₹140 crore, and just one month later, they were awarded the ₹14,400 crore Thane-Borivali Twin Tunnel Project," he alleged.

"The BJP's Hafta Vasooli strategy is simple – raid a target through the ED/CBI/I-T, and then seek 'hafta' (donations) for the company's protection. At least 14 of the top 30 donors have been raided," Mr. Ramesh said.

CPI(M) general secretary Sitaram Yechury said the correlation between the searches by the CBI and the ED has been clearly established with the available data on electoral bonds. "It is very clear that once they buy the electoral bonds, the investigations against them are suspended. This is nothing but a clear-cut case of political extortion," he said.

'Huge assumption to link ED searches with bond purchases'

Vikas Dhoot
NEW DELHI

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday dismissed suggestions that electoral bonds were purchased by many corporates to "save themselves" from probe by investigative agencies, arguing that there was a probability that the bonds were either transferred to regional parties or were donated to the ruling party before the said probes began.

Speaking at The India Today Conclave-2024, Ms. Sitharaman said it was a "huge assumption" that the money was given by firms after an Enforcement Directorate (ED) search. She was responding to a query whether bond purchases by 14 of the top 30 corporate electoral bond purchasers revealed so far, could be construed as a form of "protection" from probes they faced by some investigative agency.

"For all you know, that money was given earlier and yet, we went knocking at their door. Am I making sense? No?!... What if the companies gave the money and after that, we still went and knocked at their doors through the ED... Is that a probability or not?" the Minister said.

Nirmala Sitharaman

"Second assumption in that is, are you sure they have given it to the BJP? They probably gave it to the regional parties. What makes you assume so many things and build a narrative? The government has given and the State Bank has done its job as per the orders of the Supreme Court. Now you do any hair splitting on it, but do it without assumptions of this nature," she emphasised, adding that "smart hard-working research will do good rather than lazy journalism".

Stressing that she was not criticising the Supreme Court's verdict on electoral bonds, Ms. Sitharaman admitted that the system was not perfect, but said her predecessor, the late Arun Jaitley, had brought this scheme as an improvement over the previous system of electoral funding. "A system which is not perfect from a system which was completely imperfect, was consciously brought in so at least one aspect of it would be cleaner. Now, in the wisdom of the Supreme Court, they thought this is not the way to go about it. Alright. Till a better system comes, what is there? We have returned to the old era that 'do as you feel like –pay in cash, cheque, or give something else'," she said.

Any future law on electoral funding must incorporate the lessons from this episode, she said, underlining that "transparency will have to be progressively better" than each earlier system.

Mamata stable after fall; doctor issues clarification

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, who suffered injury to her forehead and nose after a fall on Thursday, remained stable on Friday. A team of doctors from the State-run SSKM Hospital treated Ms. Banerjee at her residence.

Meanwhile, SSKM Hospital director Manimoy Bandyopadhyay, who had on Thursday generated much political speculation by saying that the injury was caused due to a push from behind, clarified that he meant a "sensation of pushing from behind which led to the fall".

"This is a sensation of pushing from behind which led to the fall. Our job is to treat and we have done that. There was a misinterpretation of what I said last evening." Dr. Bandyopadhyay told pressperson on Friday.

Senior officials of the Kolkata Police visited the residence of the Chief Minister, but there was no clarity on whether any complaint had been lodged in connection with the incident.

Leaders from the Opposition and the Trinamool Congress targeted each other on the injuries sustained by the the Chief Minister.

The Leader of the Opposition, Suvendu Adhikari, allegedly mocked Ms. Banerjee's fall. "Her head is spinning and she is falling regularly," he said.

A number of Ministers and leaders of the Trinamool Congress raised the issue of Mr. Adhikari's remarks and demanded an apology from him. "While entire Bengal prays for Mamata Banerjee's swift recovery, Suvendu Adhikari spews derogatory remarks about her health," Minister Snehasish Chakraborty said, adding, "We vehemently condemn his malicious utterances. Is this the behaviour expected of a LoP? We demand an immediate apology!".

Bandh affects normal life in Manipur's Imphal Valley

A 48-hour 'general strike' imposed by 12 civil society organisations from Friday morning affected normal life in Manipur's Imphal Valley. The organisations called the bandh to exert pressure on the government to unconditionally release three leaders of the Pambei-led extremist group United National Liberation Front (UNLF), which signed a peace agreement with the Centre in November 2023. The National Investigation Agency allegedly arrested the trio on March 13 in connection with a case registered in West Bengal. The organisations, however, shortened the duration of the shutdown to 24 hours later in the day to address the concerns of students appearing for the ongoing Class 10 final exams.

Railways plans to develop multi-modal transport hubs

The terminals will come up in 'aspirational cities' with population of over 10 lakh as part of 'Viksit Bharat' initiative; officials told to enhance travel experience of passengers by improving cleanliness

S. Vijay Kumar
CHENNAI

The Indian Railways will create mega railway terminals with multi-modal connectivity in aspirational cities with a population of more than 10 lakh across the country.

The programme is part of the infrastructure being developed for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 'Viksit Bharat' initiative.

According to official sources, the Railway Board has communicated to General Managers of all Zonal Railways that the project could also be extended to cities where a sizeable population was expected. Giving a list of cities with more than 10 lakh population, Shirish Kumar Sinha, Additional Member (Planning), called for suggestions to include new locations or stations.

'Enhancing experience'

The Railway Ministry has also taken up enhancement of passenger experience on a mission mode and warned that any laxity on the part of its senior officers will not be tolerated.

With the proliferation of Vande Bharat Express trains across the country, which are being projected as game changers, the Railway Board has taken up the task of enhancing the travel experience of passengers through improved cleanliness of coaches and properly maintained amenities on railway premises.

Swachh focus: The principal chief mechanical engineers have been instructed to closely monitor housekeeping activities. AFP

The principal chief mechanical engineers (PCMEs) of Zonal Railways have been instructed to closely monitor and ensure sustained housekeeping and maintenance activities and take necessary action on real-time basis.

Investigation needed

Videos and pictures of staff cleaning exteriors, toilets, fans, inaccessible areas, and so on developed confidence in the system. These efforts were required to be increased and sustained to achieve a quantum jump in cleanliness level and enhancement in the passenger experience.

"While many divisions have been actively involved in this mission, a few are still to get into this important area of Rolling Stock Maintenance. I have been regularly emphasising this aspect during my interaction with PCMEs and no laxity is to be tolerated," Satish Kumar, member (Traction & Rolling Stock), Railway Board, said in an order recently.

Pointing out there had been a spate of cases relating to brake binding, brake block jamming, uncoupling of air hoses, and train parting, affecting the operation of passenger and freight trains, he urged the PCMEs to conduct a proper investigation into the incidents and implement remedial measures in consultation with the Research Designs and Standards Organisation.

Previously, the Navy operated from 13 different locations, necessitating a consolidated and purpose-built facility

Finally, the Indian Navy has a dedicated headquarters of its own. The newly constructed Nausena Bhawan located at Delhi Cantonment was formally inaugurated by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Friday.

"The inauguration marks a significant milestone for the Indian Navy as it establishes its first independent headquarters in Delhi. Previously, the Navy operated from 13 different locations, necessitating a consolidated and purpose-built facility such as Nausena Bhawan," a Defence Ministry statement said.

"Comprising three wings across four storeys, the building incorporates innovative construction technologies to optimise efficiency and sustainability. Efforts toward energy and water conservation are evident throughout the complex, with the integration of solar generation systems and advanced building materials."

Internally, Nausena Bhawan boasts a comfortable and congenial atmosphere facilitated by a central heating, ventilation, and air conditioning system utilising advanced oxidation plasma technology, according to the statement. The complex is equipped with a state-of-the-art integrated building management system, ensuring efficient coordination and monitoring of security services and utility systems.

The building has achieved Green Rating IV under the integrated habitability assessment. Additionally, the complex also features a comprehensive three-tier security system, including cutting-edge technologies such as automatic underbelly scanning of vehicles, power fence, face recognition cameras, bollards, vehicle stoppers, access control, and security cameras, the statement added.

The upgrade will also enable the aircraft to carry out secondary roles of search and rescue, casualty evacuation, and communication linking.

No porting allowed within seven days of SIM card swap: TRAI

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) on Friday updated regulations to disallow telecom subscribers to port out of their current network provider if they have "swapped" their SIM card, after the loss or damage of a previous card, within the past seven days. The regulations prohibit telecom operators from issuing a "unique porting code" (UPC) which is the first step of changing providers using mobile number portability. This amendment would "result in preventing [the] porting of mobile connections soon after SIM swapping/ replacement, by fraudsters in the name of new subscribers," the TRAI said in an explanatory memorandum.

The move is part of the anti-spam measures the TRAI has taken. Previous steps include creating a do-not-disturb registry for subscribers to opt out of spam, releasing a now-defunct app to enforce that registry by allowing users to file complaints against errant telemarketers, and requiring all transactional SMS messages by businesses to be as per a format registered with telecom operators, barring which they get filtered out.

The TRAI has also recommended to the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) a feature that would display the legally registered name of every caller on recipients' handsets, a feature that drew some criticism on privacy grounds. The DoT has launched Chakshu, its own portal for reporting "suspected fraud communication".

The DoT had asked the TRAI to examine a suggestion that telecom firms be required to match the identity of subscribers when they port out from one operator to another. The TRAI said that this suggestion will be "examined separately".

Army raises first unit to operate Apache attack helicopters in Jodhpur

NEW DELHI

The Indian Army will receive the first batch of three Apache attack helicopters in May. SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

Preparing to induct the first batch of AH-64E Apache attack helicopters into its fold, the Indian Army Aviation Corps raised its first unit at Jodhpur on Friday that will operate the helicopters. The Apaches will be the second attack helicopters in the Army after the indigenous light combat helicopter (LCH).

The 451 Aviation Squadron was formally raised at Jodhpur on Friday in the presence of Lt. Gen. A. K. Suri, Director-General of the Army Aviation Corps, a defence official said. "Army will receive the first batch of three Apaches in May and another three in July," the official added.

India signed a deal with Boeing for six more Apaches for the Army, at a cost of around $800 million, in February 2020. As part of the deal, six pilots and 24 technicians were trained by Boeing in the U.S.

The Army Aviation inducted its first dedicated attack helicopter with the LCH and the first squadron, 351 Army Aviation, was moved to Missamari, Assam in the Eastern Sector near the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in November 2022.

The Cabinet Committee had in the past given sanction for the procurement of 39 AH-64 Apache attack helicopters from the U.S., as part of which the IAF inducted 22 Apaches under a deal signed in September 2015. Subsequently, the government decided that future Apache procurements would go to the Army.

While the Army has been pushing the case for 11 more Apaches, the Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) last year ordered a study on the number of armoured helicopters required by the three Services.

Last November, the Defence Acquisition Council approved the procurement of 156 LCH at an estimated cost of ₹45,000 crore – 90 for the Army and 66 for the Air Force. There are 10 for the Air Force and five for the Army, currently being inducted, in addition to the 15 limited-series production LCH at a total cost of ₹4,264 crore.

The doctrine of karma

What is Karma? Will it yield results directly? When will it give? Valayapettai Sri Ramachariar said in a discourse that Karma refers to the deeds undertaken by human beings. It may be a good one (punya karma) or a bad one (papa karma). Not all will ever do only either the good or the sinful deeds. People will do both with or without their knowledge.

Punya karma refers to those activities through which we derive benefits, solace, and comfort. The effect of papa karma will be that which we don't like to come to us (e.g., disease).

Karma is a non-sentient (Achetana) and cannot give results by itself directly. God, the Supreme One, grants based on our Karma.

Adversities often compel a person to blame God, little realising that the divine Agency shows neither partiality nor favouritism.

The wealth one enjoys, or the poverty in which he is steeped are but the consequences of his past deeds – noble or wicked as the case may be.

We cannot say when the karmas will start giving results. It may be in this birth itself or in the births to come. God only knows. Good and bad Karma cannot be nullified. For every good or bad, one must face its effects separately.

Royal Challengers prevail in a thriller, eliminate holder Mumbai Indians

Perry resurrects the innings with a vital half-century before the spinners, led by Shreyanka, rise to the occasion to defend a modest total

WPL SEASON 2

Lavanya L
NEW DELHI

What a season Royal Challengers Bangalore has had! After a see-sawing campaign in the league stage, the side – largely thanks to the brilliance of Ellyse Perry – crawled its way into the knockouts. Facing Mumbai Indians – the very side it beat to qualify for the playoffs – RCB's luck and a few clinical performances under pressure carried the side into the final after it sealed a tense five-run win in the final over at the Arun Jaitley Stadium here on Friday.

Smriti opted to bat, looking to set a target on a surface that largely stayed slow. RCB fielded its fourth new opening pair, sending an out-of-form Sophie Devine alongside Smriti Mandhana. The duo got off to a flyer, taking Shabnim Ismail for 14 runs. Hayley Matthews removed Devine, with the ball clipping her off stump in the second over. Smriti fell two deliveries later to Nat Sciver-Brunt.

Disha Kasat and Perry were tasked with steadying the innings, but the former – a regular top-order bat in domestic cricket – crumbled under pressure, falling for a seven-ball duck. This forced Richa Ghosh to take guard far earlier than she would have liked. MI's bowlers cramped her for space much like pedestrians struggle for room in the crowded galis of Old Delhi.

Richa, and Sophie Molineux eventually made their way back to the dugout, leaving Perry to do all the heavy lifting yet again. She scored yet another fifty, with a sublime 50-ball 66 helping a once-doomed RCB total to a respectable 135.

Matthews and Yastika Bhatia started positively but the former's poor run of form continued after Shreyanka Patil dismissed her in the fourth over. Perry removed Yastika and kept things tight, sticking to a tried and testing stump line. Sciver-Brunt was taken out by Wareham just as she started breaching the boundary.

Harmanpreet Kaur and Amelia Kerr looked set to take the team through with a 52-run stand, but Harman and Sajana soon after found themselves watching nervously from the dugout.

With 12 needed off the last six balls, Smriti turned to Asha Sobhana who helped keep things tight, removed Pooja Vastrakar and closed out a dicey win, defending the lowest score in the tournament.

RCB will lock horns with Delhi Capitals as both bid for a maiden WPL title on Sunday.

Harmanpreet's wicket instilled belief: RCB assistant coach

NEW DELHI

Yet another masterclass from Ellyse Perry notwithstanding, Mumbai Indians would not have been wrong to think it had a grip on the Eliminator for a major part of the evening. RCB's quick thinking, persistence and the brilliance of a few personalities helped the side knock out the defending champion.

RCB assistant coach Malolan Rangarajan admitted that the belief that his side could seal the game came after Harmanpreet Kaur's dismissal.

"As a team, we know chasing has been difficult and that would have been running in their mind. They would have wanted to hit big sixes. When we batted, as soon as we played the fifth to sixth over, we knew 150-160 would be a good score. We had too many dot balls. I am not able to pinpoint when that belief crept in but I think when Harman got out, we thought there was something there for us."

Rangarajan hailed Asha Sobhana for holding her nerve in the tense finish.

"Our idea was to bowl the best of our bowlers, take the game to the last over and see what comes of it. When I was playing, V.B. Chandrasekhar once made a statement to us where he said players are made in four minutes, i.e., one over. Credit to Asha. To bowl leg spin with a shorter boundary on one side and see the game through took me back to this line."

"We lost the game when we should have won it," MI head coach Charlotte Edwards conceded after the game, agreeing that Harmanpreet's wicket turned the tide. "You can cope with things when you don't play well, but we were doing well and we didn't cope well today and it's brought the end of our tournament."

Match fee for Ranji should be increased: Gavaskar

Sunil Gavaskar lauded the Board of Control for Cricket in India's newly-announced 'Test Cricket Incentive Scheme', but also suggested that the match fee for Ranji Trophy should also be increased substantially.

"That (Test scheme) is a wonderful thing by the BCCI to reward those who would be playing (the format), but I would also request the BCCI to ensure that the feeder to the Test team, which is the Ranji Trophy, is also looked after. (If) the Ranji Trophy fees can be doubled or tripled, certainly there will be a lot more people playing the tournament," Gavaskar said on the sidelines of the 25th anniversary celebrations of the CHAMPS Foundation.

"If the fees of playing a Ranji Trophy match is good, there will be less people pulling out for various reasons. They will all be wanting to play with the slab system – every 10 First Class matches you get that much more, so I would request the BCCI to look at that aspect as well," Gavaskar said.

He also suggested that the Ranji should be played between October and mid-December and should be followed by white-ball fixtures. "My opinion is to have the Ranji from October to mid-December and then bring in the white-ball tournaments. That way, everybody will be available to play except for the ones featuring for India."

"There will be no real excuse to pull out. With one-dayers beginning from Jan., people who are in the IPL can start practice."

Karnataka's twin red-ball success in the season portends a bright future

The senior side sees as many as seven debutants in the 2023-24 Ranji Trophy, with five of them from the age-group squads; coach Goud says he knew the team had the potential to win

Winning habit: Karnataka backed up its Cooch Behar (U-19) triumph by clinching the Col. C.K. Nayudu (U-23) Trophy. K. MURALI KUMAR

BENGALURU

Karnataka hasn't won the Ranji Trophy in nearly a decade. But the twin red-ball titles won by the State's colts this year are proof enough that the foundation is intact and benefits could soon be reaped at the senior level.

In January, Karnataka secured its maiden Cooch Behar (U-19) Trophy, and on Wednesday, clinched the Col. C.K. Nayudu (U-23) Trophy, also for the first time.

"It is personally very satisfying," said coach Yere Goud. "The moment the team was given to me, I knew that they had the potential to win.

"I knew most of the boys since they were in the 16-19 age group. That helped in understanding them because I came in the middle of the season. A lot of credit should go to the boys. They were desperate to win and you saw the result."

In a sense, the success was an emphatic vindication of the players' talent, which the selectors recognised even before the silverware was annexed.

The Karnataka senior side saw as many as seven debutants in the 2023-24 Ranji Trophy, with five of them – K. Shashikumar (21), Rohit Kumar (23), Dheeraj Gowda (17), K.V. Aneesh (22) and Hardik Raj (18) – from the age-group squads.

Looking ahead

Karnataka also moved away from its senior spinners like K. Gowtham and J. Suchith. The inexperience showed, but chairman of selectors J. Abhiram revealed the thinking behind the calls.

"Even with the seniors, we lost the Vijay Hazare Trophy," Abhiram pointed out. "If you want to look ahead to the next six or seven years, we have to groom these young boys and instil some confidence.

"Hardik was a big revelation in Ranji. K.V. Aneesh (922 runs in CK Nayudu) has done very well and I am sure he will contribute a lot in Ranji. R. Smaran (829 runs in CK Nayudu) is ready. So it is looking good."

Defenders ward off Toofans' challenge in a thriller

The Ahmedabad team puts an end its opponent's seven-game winning streak with a hard-fought victory in five sets, with the last one extending to 34 points

CHENNAI

In a dramatic five-set battle, defending champion Ahmedabad Defenders edged out the Delhi Toofans 15-10, 11-15, 10-15, 15-12, 18-16 to claim its first victory in the Super 5 stage of Prime Volleyball League here of Friday.

The reigning champion started strong, dominating the first set with powerful attacks led by its star universal Angamuthu.

However, the tide turned in the second set as Toofans fought back with S. Santhosh and Daniel Aponza spearheading their offence. A crucial blow came for Defenders when their experienced attacker S. Nandhagopal suffered a knee injury and had to leave the match.

Despite the setback, the Ahmedabad team displayed resilience. In the third set, a thrilling duel unfolded between Angamuthu and Santhosh, but ultimately Toofans secured the set with the help of Santhosh's and Lazar Dodic's dual 'Super Serves'.

Shining star: Angamuthu, right, was in smashing form for Defenders. M. VEDHAN

Shon T. John, who replaced the in-form Nandhagopal, proved to be a game-changer for Defenders. His defensive blocks and precise sets boosted his teammates, particularly Max Senica who found his rhythm again.

This surge of energy propelled Defenders to win the fourth set and force a decider.

The fifth set was a nail-biter, extending to 34 points. Defenders initially thought they had secured the win, but a determined Toofans challenged the call, leading to a tense review which extended the game.

Ultimately, the Ahmedabad-based team ended their opponent's seven-game winning streak and secured a hard-fought win.

The result: Ahmedabad Defenders bt Delhi Toofans 15-10, 11-15, 10-15, 15-12, 18-16.

'Mustafizur's strengths are his change of pace and variations'

IPL-17

Sports Bureau
CHENNAI

Chennai Super Kings is a franchise synonymous with consistency and success in the IPL.

As the reigning champion looks to chase a record sixth title, former CSK and India player S. Badrinath identified death-bowling specialist Mustafizur Rahman as one of the key players for CSK.

At the unveiling of the Star Sports Tamil star cast commentary team for the TATA IPL 2024 alongside former India Captain K. Srikkanth, Badrinath said, "I think he is a great addition to the team. I know for a fact that Dhoni wants a left-arm fast bowler in the side, CSK has always backed left-arm seamers like Doug Bollinger and Dirk Nannes in the past.

" Mustafizur's strengths are his change of pace and variations. Look at how successful Dwayne Bravo was, using his variations at Chepauk!

"Mustafizur is a superb back-up, and has also been picked up at a great price."

Recently, R. Ashwin praised the former Tamil Nadu batter as one of the best players of spin he has encountered.

Best student

When asked about Ashwin's achievements, Badrinath said, "He is one of the best students of the game. For all that he has achieved, he is still looking to learn.

"He constantly wants to improve and innovate his game. He does not sit on his laurels; he is always thinking about the next step. I think that has made him achieve what he has achieved."

Hamas proposes new six-week Gaza truce, hostage-prisoner exchange

The plan would see the release of 42 hostages Hamas seized during its October 7 attack in Israel in exchange for 20-50 Palestinian prisoners; Gaza officials accuse Israel of opening fire on a crowd awaiting aid, killing 20 and injuring 50

Agence France-Presse
GAZA STRIP

Hamas has proposed a new six-week truce in Gaza and an exchange of several dozen Israeli hostages for Palestinian prisoners, an official from the militant group said on Friday.

"The agreement is for a six-week ceasefire and a prisoner exchange," the official said, adding that the group would want this to lead to "a complete (Israeli) withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and a permanent ceasefire".

During the proposed truce, Gaza militants would release about 42 hostages seized during the October 7 attack that triggered the war in Gaza, the official said, requesting anonymity because of the sensitivity of the talks.

Seeking shelter: Palestinians, who fled north Gaza for the south, pass through the central Gaza Strip on Friday. REUTERS

The official said that between 20 and 50 Palestinian prisoners held in Israeli jails would be released per hostage – down from a previous proposal of a roughly 100-to-one ratio, according to a Hamas source in late February.

The Hamas proposal also calls to ramp up the flow of humanitarian aid, the official added.

The terms of an eventual ceasefire would see Israel's "complete military withdrawal from the Gaza Strip", according to the official.

"Egypt and Qatar, along with the United States, are responsible for following up and ensuring the implementation of the agreement," the official said.

Meanwhile, Gaza's Hamas-run Health Ministry said on Friday that Israeli fire killed 20 people and wounded 155 waiting to receive desperately needed aid in the besieged territory, but Israel said the reports were "erroneous".

The Health Ministry in Gaza accused Israeli troops of opening fire from "tanks and helicopters" as Palestinians gathered at a roundabout in Gaza City in the north, revising upward an initial toll of 11 killed and 100 wounded.

The Israeli military denied it had opened fire on the crowd.

Russian missiles kill at least 16 in latest strike on Odesa

Associated Press
KYIV

A Russian missile attack blasted homes in the southern Ukrainian city of Odesa on Friday, followed by a second missile that targeted first responders who arrived at the scene, officials said. At least 16 persons were killed.

The dead included a paramedic and an emergency service worker. At least 53 other people were wounded, officials said.

At least 10 houses in Odesa and some emergency service equipment were damaged in the strike, which started a blaze.

The tactic of firing a second missile at the same location, aiming to hit rescuers, is known in military terms as a double tap.

Putin says Ukraine organised attacks on poll booths in Russia as presidential elections are on

Meanwhile, the first day of voting in Russia's presidential election was marred by acts of vandalism at polling stations on Friday, with at least nine arrests for pouring dye into ballot boxes and arson attacks.

The three-member Commission of Inquiry headed by Erik Møse said the scale of such torture cases may amount to the most serious abuses known as crimes against humanity.

The report has been submitted to the 47-member UN Human Rights Council in Geneva.

Locals, experts raise concern over Adani wind project in Sri Lanka

COLOMBO

A wind power project being executed by Adani Green Energy in northern Sri Lanka has run into controversy, with locals and environmentalists raising concern over its possible impact on the coastal region and livelihoods.

In February last year, Sri Lanka's Board of Investment cleared the company's $442-million project at two wind energy-rich sites in the island's Northern Province.

"The project expects to add 250 MW in Mannar and 234 MW in Pooneryn to the national grid," Sri Lanka's Minister for Power and Energy Kanchana Wijesekara said on social media platform 'X' on Thursday, following a discussion with Adani Green's executive director Sagar Adani on a power purchasing agreement that is yet to be finalised.

The Sri Lankan government aims to meet its growing energy demands with 70% renewable energy by 2030. The ambitious target will require investments totalling over $11.5 billion, according to official estimates.

Meanwhile, environmentalists and residents of Mannar fear that the Adani wind energy project could spell danger to the biodiversity of the area and impact people's livelihoods that are tied to the coastal environment.

Expanding scope: Gautam Adani met Sri Lanka President Ranil Wickremesinghe in July 2023 regarding business projects. TWITTER

'Death trap'

According to ornithologists, Mannar is part of the Central Asian Flyway, an important migration route for many waterbird species around the world. Every winter, thousands of flamingos arrive at wetlands in the district, drawing scores of birdwatchers and tourists. In a recent commentary on the wind project, Prof. Sampath S. Seneviratne from the Department of Zoology and Environment Sciences, University of Colombo, called it "death trap" for migratory birds. "The proposed wind farm is located in the best forest areas in central Mannar island, which serve as vital stopover and refuelling sites for birds approaching Sri Lanka," he wrote.

Around 50 wind turbines, each with a capacity of 5.2 MW, are to be installed as part of the project. Such an installation would usually entail a rapid clearing of the canopy, according to Marynathan Edison, an environmentalist from Mannar. "No matter how much they talk about restoration and reforestation, it will not be the same," he told The Hindu.

While activists like him welcome Sri Lanka's push for renewable energy, the move's likely environmental impact could outweigh its benefits in the absence of careful planning and wider consultation, they contend.

"Preserving the bird corridor and the biodiversity is very important, but we should not forget the social environment and the impact such projects may have on that," Mr. Edison further noted.

The project's impact on local livelihoods is a serious concern for residents, said Dilani Croos, a former member of Mannar's local council that is now defunct as Sri Lanka postponed local government elections last year. "We are a coastal district and most of our people's livelihoods are linked to the sea. Fishermen worry that changes in the coastal landscape may affect marine biodiversity and therefore their catch," she said.

Assessment report

Sri Lanka's northern fishermen are already enduring a major setback to their post-war economic recovery, owing to relentless bottom-trawling fishing by Indian fishermen along their coastline. "You can't blame the fishermen for raising concern. Policymakers and authorities have not held any consultation at the local level for them to know or better understand what this wind power project is about," Ms. Croos said.

Sri Lanka's Central Environmental Authority, which is tasked with integrating environmental considerations into the government's development agenda, published an Environmental Impact Assessment report on the Adani wind power project, and invited public comments earlier this year. "We have received several representations and a lot of feedback," a senior official told The Hindu. "All stakeholders are being consulted," he said.

Past controversy

This is not the first time the Adani wind project has drawn flak in Sri Lanka. The country's political opposition and a senior bureaucrat have in the past questioned the company's entry into the island's energy space, alleging there was pressure from India and Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

The Sri Lankan government has denied the allegations.

When The Hindu contacted Adani Green for comment on recent concerns, a spokesperson of the Group said there appears to be a "vicious campaign being run by vested interests" against the proposed wind power project in Mannar.

"The project location was chosen after careful consideration and no turbines will be set up along the critical migratory pathways or sensitive habitats," the spokesperson said in a written response.

The Environmental Impact Assessment, including birds and bats studies, was carried out by the Sri Lanka Sustainable Energy Authority (SLSEA), with leading subject experts guiding the process, the company said.

However, local groups and activists said they are unaware of the consultative meetings, and remain wary of the Adani project.

Credit balance cannot be transferred from the bank's FASTag to a FASTag obtained from another bank.

India woos Tesla by slashing import duty on EVs to 15% from 70-100%

Policy links duty reduction to EV makers investing minimum $500 million, setting up India plant within three years and reaching at least 25% domestic value addition in that time; lower duty will apply to CBUs of CIF value of $35,000 and above

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

In a bid to woo firms like Tesla to set up a manufacturing plant in India, the Centre on Friday announced reduced import duty of 15% for electric vehicles (EVs) imported as a completely built unit (CBU), from the present 70% to 100% applicable for CBU vehicle imports, provided the EV maker sets up a local manufacturing unit within three years.

Target Tesla: The govt. is offering a 'limited concession' with the aim of bringing in players with latest technology, says Singh. AP

The reduced import duty would be offered if the EV maker met certain preconditions, including a minimum investment of ₹4,150 crore (or $500 million), starts a local plant within three years and reaches 25% domestic value addition in that time, the Ministry of Commerce and Industry said.

The customs duty of 15% on CBUs would be applicable on EVs priced at $35,000 including cost, insurance and freight charges and above. The duty relief would be applicable for five years an a maximum of 8,000 vehicles per year would be permitted to be imported under the policy.

Asked about concerns voiced by domestic manufacturers, the DPIIT Secretary, Rajesh Kumar Singh said the government was offering "limited concession for a limited number of imports." He added that since the benefit was only for EVs priced above $35,000, the impact on Indian manufacturers would be minimal.

"Our intention is not to cannibalise their market, but to expand the electric vehicle market by bringing in new players with the latest technology," Mr. Singh asserted.

Exports hit 11-month high in Feb. but gold pushed imports to $60 bn.

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

India's merchandise exports grew 11.87% in February to hit an 11-month high of $41.4 billion, while imports surged at a faster pace of 12.2% to hit $60.11 billion, thanks to a sharp spike in gold imports which hit a four-month peak of $6.15 billion.

February marks only the fifth occasion that India's goods exports have registered positive growth in 2023-24, recording the highest uptick so far.

However, rising imports lifted the trade deficit to $18.7 billion from January's 9-month low of 17.5 billion.

Sunil Barthwal

"The export numbers in February have surpassed all our expectations, especially as it has been achieved despite tight monetary conditions in most markets, ongoing conflicts and lower commodity prices," Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal said.

Exuding hope this year's overall exports, including Services trade, may surpass last year's record $776 billion, he said the World Trade Organization (WTO) has recently projected a higher 3.3% growth in world trade for 2024.

"We feel that this will now be a rising tide for exports that will show in 2024-25 too," he reckoned.

In the first 11 months of the year, goods exports have contracted 3.5% to $395 billion, while imports have dropped 5.3% to $620 billion, narrowing the trade deficit to $225 billion from $246 billion in the year-earlier period.

"From trade deficit and current account deficit perspectives, there has been an improvement but rising imports of gold and electronics and the dip in exports of garments must raise a red flag," Bank of Baroda Chief Economist Madan Sabnavis said. Low global demand has hurt exports of readymade garments (which is down 11%) and engineering goods, which are down 9.3% so far this year, he said.

Vistara tells pilots: 'accept new pay or risk job in merged firm'

Jagriti Chandra
NEW DELHI

Vistara issued an ultimatum to its pilots on Friday, hours before a deadline to accept a new pay structure ahead of its merger with Air India that could result in a pay cut of more than 50% for some, warning that failure to sign on could lead to their exclusion from the integrated airline.

On Friday morning, Vistara's Human Resources department sent a mail to pilots reminding them that it was the last day for them to accept the new pay structure, failing which they risked losing a one time pay-out, their place in the sequence for upgrade, and their elimination from the merged entity.

Pilots, particularly First Officers, had demanded an extension of deadline after a heated exchange during an online meeting with the HR on Thursday.

The First Officers argue the new salary structure, which offers 40 hours of minimum guaranteed flying to all pilots instead of the current 70 hours, results in an almost 57% pay cut. They also assert that under the new terms they have to fly for up to 76 hours to earn what they were drawing at 70 hours earlier, and this at a time when Vistara's flights are expected to reduce as aircraft are shifted to Air India and Air India Express.

On the other hand, Captains and Senior Captains would only have to fly 52-55 hours and 55-60 hours, respectively, to earn the salary they were getting for 70 hours of flying.

"After an employee is hired, the conditions of employment can't be changed to his or her disadvantage," said aviation lawyer Yeshwanth Shenoy. "This means that any bonds signed by pilots, along with undated cheques, in lieu of training, will be invalid," he observed. Vistara had not responded to questions e-mailed to it, till the time of going to press.

Large MFs face higher risks, stress test shows

Suresh P. Iyengar
MUMBAI

The SEBI-mandated stress test on mid- and small-cap mutual fund schemes shows some of the larger players may be at higher risk compared with smaller peers.

Large fund houses, including HDFC MF and SBI MF, with assets of ₹28,597 crore and ₹25,534 crore, respectively, will take 42 and 60 days to sell 50% of their assets in the event of any heavy redemption.

On the other hand, smaller players such as Edelweiss MF said it will take only three days to offload half of the small-cap portfolio.

Technology combined with behavioural analysis can prevent financial frauds: Das

The Hindu Bureau
MUMBAI

Technology, combined with behavioural analysis, can go a long way in spotting anomalies in consumer behaviour and help in understanding and preventing frauds, Reserve Bank of India Governor Shaktikanta Das said while speaking at the annual conference of RBI Ombudsman in Mumbai.

Suspicious consumer behaviour that could be monitored include transactions during odd hours, transactions against usual patterns and unauthorised beneficiary additions.

He said, however, that

on the flip side the utilisation of such technologies without appropriate safeguards may lead to compromise in customer data.

"The possible issues that may arise include invasion of privacy or subtle manipulations based on consumer profiling to nudge [the customer] into certain services that may not be the right fit," he said.

"Appropriate safeguards need to be put in place in this regard," he further said.

Mr. Das also said that Artificial Intelligence (AI) capabilities are currently being utilised to complement customer service through personalised interaction, chatbots and virtual assistants tailored to specific products.

Its deployment in prevention of frauds, identity verification, vulnerability mitigation and data protection were, however, at nascent stages, he added.

Mr. Das said that under the Integrated Ombudsman Scheme, the Ombudsman has been entrusted with the responsibility of upholding the trust of ordinary citizens.

"The RBI Ombudsman is expected to provide an independent and impartial avenue to citizens for their unresolved grievances. They have the power to facilitate delivery of fair redress of customers' grievances," he said.

"There have been significant improvements in the implementation of the integrated Ombudsman framework of the Reserve Bank after the launch of RB-IOS, 2021," he added.
